The right to trial by jury, the right to be free from unreasonable search and seizure, the right of habeas corpus, the prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment, the guarantees of freedom of the press, freedom of assembly and freedom of religion -- all these were basic concepts in the days of our Revolution.

They were concepts for which men had worked and even given up their lives for centuries.

But they had never been made the foundation stones of a government until they were put in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution; and its first ten amendments -- the Bill of Rights -- which are just as fundamental a part of our basic law as the original version of the Constitution that we are sealing up here today.

will be sealed up and placed abagcide the niquial document. They are just as important.
