

living intelligence

The Community produces over 50,000 a

“There can't conceivably be a market for 50,000

pieces of finished intelligence.”

- Thomas Fingar (former DNI deputy director for analysis)

In 2006, the Intelligence Community was introduced to

I

intellipedia

based on the same anyone-can-edit software and philosophies that built Wikipedia...

...analysts flocked to it to share information
in a common space.

Like this one...

search

Go Search

navigation

- Main Page
- Recent changes

page discussion edit history move watch tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.

The article is based on limited information and/or is rapidly evolving. All Intellipedi-ans are asked to identify and contribute any information that may help further develop this story. Please use section editing (i.e. only edit the section you want to work on) and save often to minimize edit conflicts. To discuss issues or air disputes regarding information on this developing story, please use the discussion page.

page discussion edit history move watch tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.

- What links here
- Related changes
- Upload file
- Special pages
- Printable version
- Permanent link
- Provide Feedback

Contents [hide]

- 1 Background
- 2 Attacks
 - 2.1 Entry into India
 - 2.2 Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus
 - 2.3 Leopold Cafe
 - 2.4 Taj Mahal Hotel and Oberoi Trident
 - 2.5 Nariman House
 - 2.6 End of the attacks
 - 2.7 Methodology
- 3 Attribution
 - 3.1 Attackers
 - 3.2 Arrests
- 4 Casualties

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)
Attack type	Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis ^[1]
Deaths	173 (164 civilians and security personnel and 9 attackers) ^[2]
Injured	308 ^[2]
Suspected perpetrator(s)	Controversial; key suspect is Lashkar-e-Taiba ^{[3][4]}

v · d · e Terrorism in Mumbai [show]

Wikipedia

Search box with 'Go' and 'Search' buttons

- Home
- Main Page
- Recent changes
- Help
- Guidelines
- Random Article
- Sandbox

people finder

Passport Search

- Special software tools
- Wikilink
- Wikilink Blogs
- WikiConnect
- Wiki Web Client
- Intellidocs
- Video
- Gallery

beta tools, unsupported

Digg-IC

- toolbox
- What links here
- Related changes
- Upload file
- Special pages
- Printable version
- Permanent link
- Provide Feedback

page edit history move watch discussion page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.

The article is based on limited information and/or is rapidly evolving. All Intellipedians are asked to identify and contribute any information that may help further develop this story. Please use section editing (i.e. only edit the section you want to work on) and save often to minimize edit conflicts. To discuss issues or air disputes regarding information on this developing story, please use the discussion page.

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 308.^{[2][5]}

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[7] the Metro Cinema,^[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman officially accepted Ajmal Amir's nationality as Pakistani.^[15] On 12 February 2009, Pakistan's Interior Minister Rehman Malik, in a televised news briefing, confirmed that parts of the attack had been planned in Pakistan and said that six people, including the alleged mastermind, were being held in connection with the attacks.^[16]

Contents [hide]

- 1 Background
- 2 Attacks
 - 2.1 Entry into India
 - 2.2 Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus
 - 2.3 Leopold Cafe
 - 2.4 Taj Mahal Hotel and Oberoi Trident
 - 2.5 Nariman House
 - 2.6 End of the attacks
 - 2.7 Methodology
- 3 Attribution
 - 3.1
- 4

2008 Mumbai Attacks

Locations of the attacks
Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)
Attack type	Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis ^[1]
Deaths	173 (164 civilians and security personnel and 9 attackers) ^[2]
Injured	308 ^[2]
Suspected	Controversial; key suspect is Lashkar-e-Taiba ^{[3][4]}

in Mumbai [show]

Despite collaboration occurring in shared platforms...

...interagency collaboration is often viewed as mutually exclusive from agency vetting...

search

Go Search

navigation

- Main Page, Recent changes, Help, Guidelines, Random Article, Sandbox

people finder

- Passport Search

social software tools

- Intelink, Intelink Blogs, Tag|Connect, IIM Web Client, Infidocs, Mideo, Gallery

beta tools, unsupported

- Digg-IC

toolbox

- What links here, Related changes, Upload file, Special pages, Printable version, Permanent link, Provide Feedback

page discussion edit history move watch tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.

The article is based on limited information and/or is rapidly evolving. All Intellipeditors are asked to identify and contribute any information that may help further develop this story. Please use section editing (i.e. only edit the section you want to work on) and save often to minimize edit conflicts. To discuss issues or air disputes regarding information on this developing story, please use the discussion page.

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 308.[2][5]

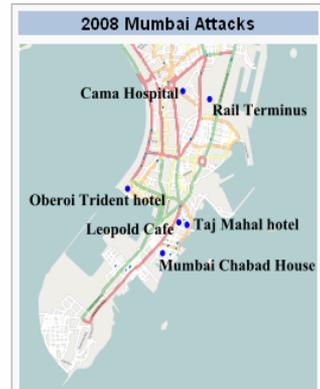

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,[6] Leopold Cafe,[6] Cama Hospital,[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,[7] the Metro Cinema,[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab,[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman officially accepted Ajmal Amir's nationality as Pakistani.[15] On 12 February 2009, Pakistan's Interior Minister Rehman Malik, in a televised news briefing, confirmed that parts of the attack had been planned in Pakistan and said that six people, including the alleged mastermind, were being held in connection with the attacks.[16]

Contents [hide]

- 1 Background
2 Attacks
2.1 Entry into India
2.2 Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus
2.3 Leopold Cafe
2.4 Taj Mahal Hotel and Oberoi Trident
2.5 Nariman House
2.6 End of the attacks
2.7 Methodology
3 Attribution
3.1 Attackers
3.2 Arrests
4 Casualties

Locations of the attacks

Table with 2 columns: Field (Location, Date, Attack type, Deaths, Injured, Suspected perpetrator(s)) and Value (Mumbai, India; 26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30); Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis[1]; 173 (164 civilians and security personnel and 9 attackers)[2]; 308[2]; Controversial; key suspect is Lashkar-e-Taiba[3][4])

We make similar ^{but not identical} versions...

...and leave the de-confliction to our customers

Since Community collaboration...

The screenshot shows a website titled "(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008". The page features a central text area with a heading "2008 Mumbai Attacks" and a map of Mumbai. The text describes the coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. It mentions the attacks began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, resulting in the killing of at least 173 people and wounding of at least 302. The text also notes that eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai, at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Vastu Sangrahalaya, the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower, the Leaning Tower of Colaba, the Cama Hospital, the Central Government Secretariat, the Indian Consulate, and a law school. The text further states that the Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their consulates were in Pakistan. The text also mentions that the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based extremist organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others. The text also notes that the Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their consulates were in Pakistan. The text also mentions that the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based extremist organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others. The text also notes that the Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their consulates were in Pakistan. The text also mentions that the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based extremist organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.

A series of six horizontal bars, each with a different color (blue, pink, teal, red, light blue, red) and a right-pointing arrow. Each bar contains a small icon of a document and a globe, representing data flow or collaboration.

...is viewed as exclusive from agency-specific vetting...

Which agency production process do we pick to “push” the report?

...maybe it's time to re-think “production”

What if...

...instead of using siloes review processes...

...we moved toward
transparent review

The wiki becomes the living and authoritative source...

page discussion edit history move watch tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.
The article is based on limited information and/or is rapidly evolving. All Intellipedians are asked to identify and contribute any information that may help further develop this story. Please use section editing (i.e. only edit the section you want to work on) and save often to minimize edit conflicts. To discuss issues or air disputes regarding information on this developing story, please use the discussion page.

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 308.^{[2][5]}

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[7] the Metro Cinema,^[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman officially accepted Ajmal Amir's nationality as Pakistani.^[15] On 12 February 2009, Pakistan's Interior Minister Rehman Malik, in a televised news briefing, confirmed that parts of the attack had been planned in Pakistan and said that six people, including the alleged mastermind, were being held in connection with the attacks.^[16]

Contents (hide)

- Background
- Attacks
 - 2.1 Entry into India
 - 2.2 Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus
 - 2.3 Leopold Cafe
 - 2.4 Taj Mahal Hotel and Oberoi Trident
 - 2.5 Nariman House
 - 2.6 End of the attacks
 - 2.7 Methodology
- Attribution
 - 3.1 Attackers
 - 3.2 Arrests
- Casualties

2008 Mumbai Attacks

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)
Attack type	Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis ^[1]
Deaths	173 (164 civilians and security personnel and 9 attackers) ^[2]
Injured	308 ^[2]
Suspected perpetrator(s)	Controversial; key suspect is Lashkar-e-Taiba ^{[2][9]}

Terrorism in Mumbai [show]

...not just an encyclopedia.

search

Go Search

navigation

- Main Page
- Recent changes
- Help
- Guidelines
- Random Article
- Sandbox

people finder

- Passport Search

social software tools

- Intelink
- Intelink Blogs
- Tag/Connect
- IIM Web Client
- Inteldocs
- iVideo
- Gallery

beta tools, unsupported

- Digg-IC

toolbox

- What links here
- Related changes
- Upload file
- Special pages
- Printable version
- Permanent link
- Provide Feedback

page discussion edit history move watch tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.

The article is based on limited information and/or is rapidly evolving. All Intellipeditors are asked to identify and contribute any information that may help further develop this story. Please use section editing (i.e. only edit the section you want to work on) and save often to minimize edit conflicts. To discuss issues or air disputes regarding information on this developing story, please use the discussion page.

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 308.^{[2][5]}

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[7] the Metro Cinema,^[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman officially accepted Ajmal Amir's nationality as Pakistani.^[15] On 12 February 2009, Pakistan's Interior Minister Rehman Malik, in a televised news briefing, confirmed that parts of the attack had been planned in Pakistan and said that six people, including the alleged mastermind, were being held in connection with the attacks.^[16]

Contents (hide)

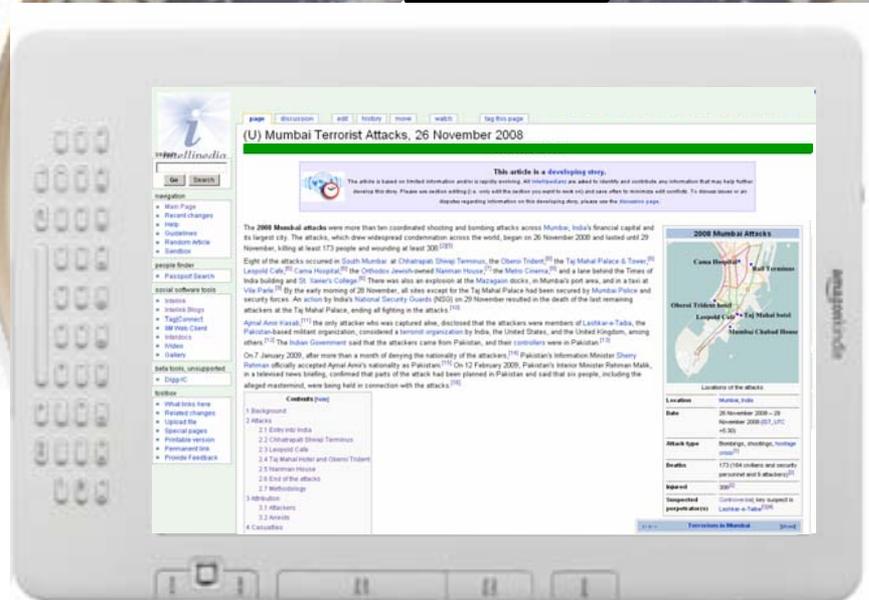

- Background
- Attacks
 - Entry into India
 - Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus
 - Leopold Cafe
 - Taj Mahal Hotel and Oberoi Trident
 - Nariman House
 - End of the attacks
 - Methodology
- Attribution
 - Attackers
 - Arrests
- Casualties

2008 Mumbai Attacks

Locations of the attacks

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)
Attack type	Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis ^[1]
Deaths	173 (164 civilians and security personnel and 9 attackers) ^[2]
Injured	308 ^[2]
Suspected perpetrator(s)	Controversial; key suspect is Lashkar-e-Taiba ^{[2][6]}

page discussion edit history view watch log this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

This article is a developing story.
 The article is based on limited information and/or is rapidly changing. All contributors are asked to identify and contribute any information that may help further develop the story. Please see the editing guide (i.e. only add the section you want to work on) and save often to minimize edit conflicts. To discuss issues or to help with updating information on this developing story, please see the discussion page.

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 300.^[1]

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaj Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[2] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[3] Leopold Cafe,^[4] Cama Hospital,^[5] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[6] the Metro Cinema,^[7] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[8] There was also an explosion at the Maragoni docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a train at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending of fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Warsi,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their commanders were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Interior Minister Sherry Rehman officially accepted Ajmal Amir's nationality as Pakistani.^[15] On 12 February 2009, Pakistan's Interior Minister Rehman Malik, in a news conference, confirmed that parts of the attack had been planned in Pakistan and said that six people, including the alleged mastermind, were being held in connection with the attacks.^[16]

Contexts (view)

- 1 Background
- 2 Attacks
- 2.1 Entry into India
- 2.2 Chhatrapati Shivaj Terminus
- 2.3 Leopold Cafe
- 2.4 Taj Mahal Hotel and Oberoi Trident
- 2.5 Nariman House
- 2.6 End of the attacks
- 2.7 Bombings
- 3 Attribution
- 3.1 al-Badrans
- 3.2 arrests
- 4 Casualties

Locations of the attacks

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (03 UTC +5.30)
Attack type	Bombings, shootings, hostage assault
Deaths	173 (168 civilians and security personnel and 5 attackers) ^[17]
Wounded	300 ^[18]
Suspected perpetrators	Continuing list suspended in Lashkar-e-Taiba ^[19]

Terrorists in Mumbai print

search

Go Search

- navigation
- Main Page
- Recent changes
- Help
- Guidelines
- Random Article
- Sandbox

people finder

- Passport Search

social software

- Tagomania
- Wik Web Clips
- Intellidocs
- Video
- Gallery

beta tools, unsupported

- Digg-IC

toolbox

- What links here
- Related changes
- Upload file
- Special pages
- Printable version
- Permanent link
- Provide Feedback

- page
- discussion
- edit
- history
- move
- watch
- tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 308.^{[2][5]}

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman Point Synagogue,^[6] the Nariman Point Hotel,^[6] the Taj Mahal Hotel,^[6] and the Mumbai Club.^[6] The Oberoi Trident, the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower, the Leopold Cafe, Cama Hospital, the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman Point Synagogue, the Nariman Point Hotel, the Taj Mahal Hotel, and the Mumbai Club have been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman

2008 Mumbai Attacks

Locations of the attacks

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)
Attack type	Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis ^[1]
Deaths	173 (164 civilians and security

Organizational identity without locking down the wiki

search

Go Search

navigation

- Main Page, Recent changes, Help, Guidelines, Random Article, Sandbox

people finder

- Passport Search

social software tools

- Intelink, Intelink Blogs, Tag/Connect, IIM Web Client, Inteldocs, iVideo, Gallery

beta tools, unsupported

- Digg-IC

toolbox

- What links here, Related changes, Upload file, Special pages, Printable version, Permanent link, Provide Feedback

- page, discussion, edit, history, move, watch, tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting and bombing attacks across Mumbai, India's financial capital and its largest city. The attacks, which drew widespread condemnation across the world, began on 26 November 2008 and lasted until 29 November, killing at least 173 people and wounding at least 308.^{[2][5]}

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[7] the Metro Cinema,^[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman

NGA approval box with logo and text: This version has been approved by NGA.

CIA approval box with logo and text: This version has been approved by CIA.

DHS approval box with logo and text: This version has been approved by DHS.

DIA approval box with logo and text: This version has been approved by DIA.

Table with 2 columns: Field (Location, Date, Attack type, Deaths) and Value (Mumbai, India; 26 November 2008 - 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30); Bombings, shootings, hostage crisis; 173 (164 civilians and security)).

SE

ns

See the approved version of this article.

Compare this version to the approved version.

pe

SO

Intelink

building and St. Xavier's College [6] There was also an explosion at the Rail Terminus

beta tools, unsupported

resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal

Leopold City

to

special pages

Printable version

by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others [12] of the attackers, Pakistan's information minister Sherry Rehman

November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)

search

name

password

confirm password

create account

login

random article

passport search

social software tools

intelink

intelink blogs

tagconnect

ilim web client

inteldocs

ivideo

gallery

beta tools, unsupported

digg-ic

toolbox

what links here

related changes

upload file

special pages

printable version

permanent link

provide feedback

page discussion edit history move watch tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shootings

See the approved version of this article.

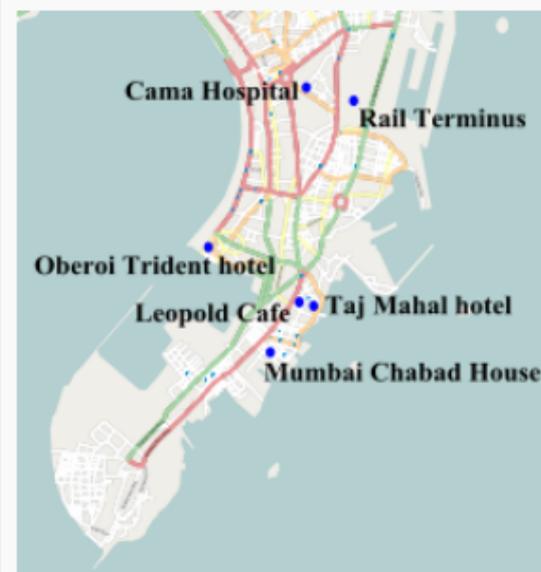

Compare this version to the approved version.

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[7] the Metro Cinema,^[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

Ajmal Amir Kasab,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman

2008 Mumbai Attacks

Locations of the attacks

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)

search

- page
- discussion
- edit
- history
- move
- watch
- tag this page

(U) Mumbai Terrorist Attacks, 26 November 2008

The 2008 Mumbai attacks were more than ten coordinated shooting

- Random Article
- Sandbox

people finder

- Passport Search

social software tools

- Intelink
- Intelink Blogs
- TagConnect
- ILM Web Client
- Inteldocs
- iVideo
- Gallery

beta tools, unsupported

- Digg-IC

toolbox

- What links here
- Related changes
- Upload file
- Special pages
- Printable version
- Permanent link
- Provide Feedback

Eight of the attacks occurred in South Mumbai: at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus, the Oberoi Trident,^[6] the Taj Mahal Palace & Tower,^[6] Leopold Cafe,^[6] Cama Hospital,^[6] the Orthodox Jewish-owned Nariman House,^[7] the Metro Cinema,^[8] and a lane behind the Times of India building and St. Xavier's College.^[6] There was also an explosion at the Mazagaon docks, in Mumbai's port area, and in a taxi at Vile Parle.^[9] By the early morning of 28 November, all sites except for the Taj Mahal Palace had been secured by Mumbai Police and security forces. An action by India's National Security Guards (NSG) on 29 November resulted in the death of the last remaining attackers at the Taj Mahal Palace, ending all fighting in the attacks.^[10]

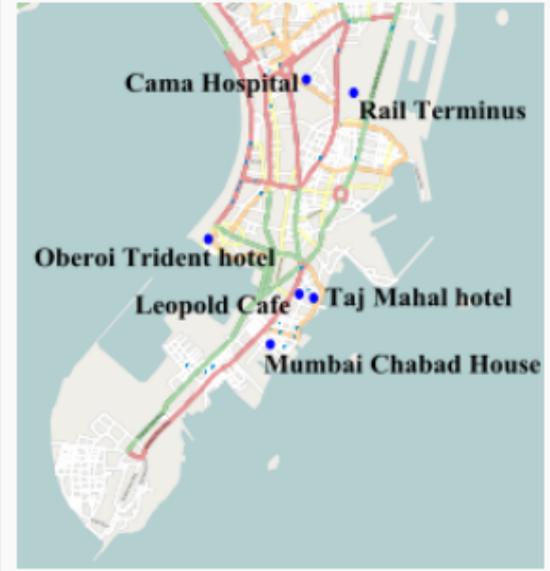

Ajmal Amir Kasab,^[11] the only attacker who was captured alive, disclosed that the attackers were members of Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Pakistan-based militant organization, considered a terrorist organization by India, the United States, and the United Kingdom, among others.^[12] The Indian Government said that the attackers came from Pakistan, and their controllers were in Pakistan.^[13]

On 7 January 2009, after more than a month of denying the nationality of the attackers,^[14] Pakistan's Information Minister Sherry Rehman

See the approved version of this article. Compare this version to the approved version.

2008 Mumbai Attacks

Locations of the attacks

Location	Mumbai, India
Date	26 November 2008 – 29 November 2008 (IST, UTC +5:30)

does not mean

living intelligence

living intelligence

credits

music | “TBD” by TBD, Album TBD (jamendo.com)

art | photos.com

original idea | Chris Rasmussen, Sean O.

script/production | Adam Roades, Chris Rasmussen

Notes

- All screen captures have been fabricated or taken from Wikipedia; all names are fictitious
- Section 508 considerations for this presentation have been made with an audio-described version of the video
- Audio descriptions created on <http://expressivo.com>

this video is distributed under a Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 license

envis

DEEDS

mission

revolution

Expand Innovate Collaborate

expand

Innovate

Collaborate

Innovate

synergy

Collaborate

Innovate

Inform

Collaborate

Innovate

Inform