Office of the Director of National Intelligence

INTELLIGENCE ADVANCED RESEARCH PROJECTS ACTIVITY (IARPA)

Records Control Schedule (RCS)

Mission Description

IARPA, a component of the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI), invests in high-risk/high-payoff research programs that have the potential to provide the nation with an overwhelming intelligence advantage over future adversaries.

IARPA's research programs are currently aligned within three research program offices: (1) Office of Smart Collection, (2) Office of Incisive Analysis, and (3) Office of Safe and Secure Operations. There is significant collaboration among program managers within and across offices.

Purpose

The purpose of this RCS is to describe and provide disposition instructions for IARPA records. All federal records must be covered by a National Archives and Records Administration (NARA)-approved records disposition authority (36 CFR 1225.10).

Application of the RCS Disposition Instructions

The disposition instructions in this RCS are mandatory (36 CFR 1226.10). Any federal records created or received by IARPA personnel or contractors not specifically covered by this RCS or the GRS are to be retained until such time as an applicable disposition authority approved by the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) is obtained. To take into account the fluid nature of electronic recordkeeping, those responsible for implementing this schedule should be aware that record copies of record types described in this schedule are to receive the prescribed disposition wherever they are filed.

Legal records related to IARPA are addressed in the RCS of the ODNI Office of General Counsel.

Human Resource records related to IARPA are addressed in the RCS of the ODNI Office of Human Resources.

The ODNI Information Management Officer with responsibility for the records of IARPA will support effective implementation of the disposition requirements of this schedule through the development and issuance of appropriate guidance and supplementary instructions necessary to ensure adequate and proper documentation of the official mission, responsibilities, and actions of IARPA.

Note on Sensitivity of Records

Some of the records addressed in this RCS are classified as national security information in accordance with statutory and national policy directives. Some of the records series may contain law enforcement information, commercially sensitive information, information about individuals, and other sensitive information potentially exempt from disclosure under the Privacy Act or the Freedom of Information Act. Sensitive materials must be protected, stored, and maintained in accordance with applicable law and policy.

Note on Vital Records

Records management personnel should be alert to the need to identify vital records so that they can be accessed quickly when needed. Vital records are that (1) specify how IARPA will operate in case of an emergency or disaster, (2) are necessary to ODNI's continued mission critical operations during and after an emergency or disaster, and (3) must be preserved to protect the legal and financial rights of IARPA and of persons affected by IARPA.

Note on Electronic Records

The IARPA Director and staff may maintain record copies of many official files in electronic form on both shared and individual network drives. In addition, some staff members may keep some files on their individual local drives, although the standard operating procedure is that files of substantive, enduring value are to be saved on the shared drive. Records kept on both the network and local individual drives that are not disposable under the GRS are to be moved or copied to the network shared drives or kept in paper files, as appropriate, to be retained and disposed of in accordance with an approved ODN disposition authority.
