Series Title: Records of the Pribilof Islands Program

General Notes: Administration of this program was under the National Marine Fisheries Service, which was formerly under RG 22, Fish and Wildlife, before transferring to NOAA in 1971 until the program's abolishment in 1985. There are nine subseries to this series.

Series Description:

Daily logbooks, St. Paul and St. George: This series consists of logbooks both typewritten and handwritten, and give minutely detailed accounts of work done on the islands. The logs include the number of people on a task, weather, and events including weddings, births, deaths, and plane arrivals. The logbooks for the Funter Bay Evacuation camp and the evacuation sealing party are separate from the regular logbooks.

Census: This series consists of the Department of Commerce and Labor Census of St. Paul Island, Alaska from June 30, 1906 to December 31, 1928. Information recorded in the Census included the head of family's name, family members and relation to head of household, age, place and date of birth, wife's maiden name, and date of marriage. Most years include population statistics, marriages, births, and deaths.

Photographs and Maps: This series consists of early maps and photographs of both St. Paul and St. George Islands, some made specifically for A.P. Loud. This is not the same as the Reference Prints and Negatives.

Administrative Correspondence: This series consists of agents' correspondence regarding the administration of the program. Correspondence topics include financial, reporting, legal, studies, environmental and procedural methods, and management of both the seal and human populations. (3 series) The Reference Prints and Negatives have been pulled from this series.

Subject and Decimal Correspondence: This series consists of letters by agents at Saint George and Saint Paul Islands; contracts; purchase orders, invoices, vouchers, and bills of lading; cargo manifests, landing permits, and passenger lists; property and stores inventories; radio messages and weather reports; medical and coroner's reports; school reports; fox and seal censuses, and harvest reports; and special files on the Funter Bay Evacuation Camp in southeastern Alaska. There is Fur Seal Conference and Committee correspondence and research correspondence relating to arctic flora and fauna, and investigations on whales, as well as ANCSA and materials relating to the closure of the program. 2 series.

Inventories: This series consists of typewritten, bound lists of supplies or permanent property and their costs, given to the federal government as part of the fiscal year expenditures. It also includes an inventory of real estate parcels on the islands.

Time Books: These books contain lists of the names of the men who worked during the months and show their attendance. Keys are interspersed within the books explaining various duties assigned. There is a break between May 1936 – April 1940. One odd book spans Oct 1932 and continues with April 1933 – 1936. It is unclear to which island the book refers.

Harvesting Records: This series consists of bound volumes detailing the number of fox and seal killed over specific periods.

Agents' Annual Reports: This series consists of typewritten, bound narrative reports of the events of the year, addressed to Department of the Interior. Topics include expenditures, medical and school reports, foxing and sealing reports, and observations.

Miscellaneous: This series consists of material separated prior to description. Items include blue line drawings of sealing tools, copybook, maps and blueprints, telegrams, publications, photographs and negatives and administrative files.

Reference Prints and Negatives: False series pulled from Administrative Correspondence.

Box 2 St Paul and St George 1962 – 1966

Box 3 St George 1877 – 1899

Photographs and Maps: This series consists of 19 photographs, two charts, and a plan compiled by A. P. Loud. There are photographs taken on Saint Paul Island which show the killing grounds for northern fur seals, the Church of Saints Peter and Paul, Aleuts, and A.P. Loud and Mrs. Loud. Included are six cyanotypes taken on Saint Paul Island showing Alaska Commercial Company houses, a salt house on Salt Lagoon, a schoolhouse, the dispensary, and the village of Saint Paul. There are two prints of the village of Ounalaska (Unalaska), located in the Aleutian Islands. The two charts of Saint Paul and Saint George Islands generally show topographical features such as hills, lakes, points, ponds, and sand dunes. The seal rookeries and hauling grounds are marked on the chart for Saint Paul Island. The 1886 plan for the town of Saint Paul shows the location of buildings, houses, and streets, and topographical features such as bays, bluffs, hills, and reefs.

1 June 1945 – 29 Nov 1947
1 Dec 1947 – 30 March 1951

Harvesting Records: This series consists of bound volumes detailing the number of fox and seal killed over specific periods.

Box and folder list:

Box 1: Records of Seals Killed, St George Island
1870 – 1881, Volume marked Census, St George Island
1882 - 1912

Box 2: Records of Seals Killed, St Paul Island
1883 – 1911
1913 – 1962

Box 3: Records of Seals Killed, St George Island

Box 4: Foxing Operation Boom 1940 – 1947
Foxing Record: Killing and Breeding Reserve, 5 Dec 1927 – 9 March 1951
13 Dec 1927 – 20 Jan 1929. A short record of hunts, probably fox.

Agents' Annual Reports: These are typewritten, bound narrative reports of the events of the year addressed to Fish and Wildlife. The reports include major expenditures, cost incurred, medical reports, school reports, information on the foxing and sealing operations and observations of the "native community." All the documentation for the year is compacted into this report for the presentation to the government. The inclusive dates are 1930 – 1963 for St George, 1937 – 1960 for St Paul with both islands missing a few years, 1943 for Funter Bay and 1951 – 1963 for the Sealing Operations. These reports are filed on a fiscal year basis covering 1 April to 31 March of the following year. This definition changes in 1958, when they are filed by calendar year.
