

2014 VIRTUAL GENEALOGY FAIR

Individual Deceased Personnel File (IDPF)

This presentation will highlight the Air Force and Navy mortuary/ casualty files maintained by the National Archives at St. Louis, detailing the IDPFs which are available to the public. The lecturer will also include an overview of the information and documents typically found in these files. Procedures will also be explained for how to access these records for both on-site and off-site researchers.

Bryan McGraw joined the National Archives and Records Administration in September 2004 and was selected to his current position in 2012. Mr. McGraw is responsible for the day-to-day operations of one of the largest archives in the United States, employing over 40 personnel with responsibility for the legal custody of nearly 600,000 cubic feet of former military and civilian personnel records--an estimated 50 million files and growing. Mr. McGraw was also responsible for the local planning and oversight for the replacement of the National Personnel Records Center's (NPRC's) facilities in St. Louis, and the planning, execution and relocation of over 4.2 million cubic feet of records and nearly 800 employees to these new facilities.

Mr. McGraw's education includes a Bachelor of Science Degree from Southeast Missouri State University, a Master of Public Administration from the University of Oklahoma, and a Ph.D. (all but the dissertation) in Public Policy from Saint Louis University. He is also a Senior Fellow and graduate of the Partnership for Public Service Excellence in Government Fellowship Program.
