

2014 VIRTUAL GENEALOGY FAIR

Vets and Feds in the Family Tree Military and Civilian Personnel Records

Theresa Fitzgerald
Archivist
National Archives at
St. Louis

This presentation will highlight the records maintained by the National Archives at St. Louis, detailing the official military personnel files (OMPFs) and civilian personnel records available to the public. We will also explain the National Personnel Records Center's functions, including the differences between the two facilities' record holdings and access.

Theresa Fitzgerald has worked as an archivist for NARA since 2008 and works with military personnel records. She has a Bachelors in History—Oklahoma State University and a Masters in History with a Certificate in Museum Studies — University of Missouri, St. Louis. Before joining the National Archives, she worked as a data entry archivist with the Missouri Historical Society (Richard A. Gephardt Papers).
