

2014 VIRTUAL GENEALOGY FAIR

Great Granny Eunice came from Ireland, Grandpa Fred was in the War, Can Access to Archival Databases (AAD) Help Me?

John LeGloahec
Archives Specialist
National Archives at College Park, MD

Access to Archival Databases (AAD) has helpful information for genealogists because it contains 60 different series with more than 100 million records. AAD allows researchers to access electronic data files from anywhere around the world. John will highlight records of interest to genealogists, including Immigration and Passenger Lists records and the WWII Army Enlistment files. He will also provide an introduction to navigating AAD, and how to search the records using both free-text, fielded, and code list searches.

---

John LeGloahec joined the National Archives in June 2006, as an Archives Specialist in the Electronic Records Division (RDE). Since 2013, he has been a full-time member of the Electronic Records Reference Branch (RDER). He holds a Masters in Library Science (MLS) from the University at Albany and a Masters in Social Studies Education (MS) from Long Island University. Prior to joining NARA, John worked at the International Monetary Fund Archives and the Rockefeller Archive Center, where he was Supervisor of the Nelson A. Rockefeller Papers Project. John is very active professionally and currently serves as Chair of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Archives Conference (MARAC). He has also served as President and Treasurer of the National Archives Assembly (NAA).