

2014 VIRTUAL GENEALOGY FAIR

The Genealogical Significance of World War I Draft Registration Cards

Zina Rhone

Archives Technician
National Archives
at Atlanta, GA

World War I draft registration cards provide a wealth of genealogy information including the registrant's name, date and place of birth, citizenship status, ethnicity, nearest living relatives, occupation, and the registrant's physical description.

---

Zina Rhone has been with the National Archives at Atlanta since March 2001. She is an Archives Technician for Research Services. Zina provides research reference assistance and orientations to genealogy research. She gives consultation on record groups related to genealogical and historical interests. Zina currently replies to incoming reference inquiries related to Records of the Provost Marshal General's Office and Records of the Bureau of Prisons/Atlanta Federal Penitentiary 1900-1921. She has spoken at workshops and has worked as a Historical Records Consultant at The Ohio State University Department of Economic Studies. She is a licensed minister from the Servant of Christ Church, Union City, GA (2007), she holds a Certification for Life Coaching and Personal Counseling and a B.A. degree in Religious Studies from Midwest Theology Institute, IL (2010).