About the National Archives

The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) is the nation's record keeper. Of all the documents and materials created in the course of business conducted by the United States Federal government, only 1%–3% are determined permanently valuable. Those valuable records are preserved and are available to you, whether you want to see if they contain clues about your family's history, need to prove a veteran's military service, or are researching an historical topic that interests you.

Beginning with the Continental Congress in 1774, America's national legislative bodies have kept records of their proceedings. The records of the Continental Congress, the Constitutional Convention, and the United States Congress make up a rich documentary history of the construction of the nation and the development of the federal government and its role in the national life. These documents record American history in the words of those who built our government.

Books on the law formed a major part of the holdings of the Library of Congress from its beginning. In 1832, Congress established the Law Library of Congress as a separate department of the Library. It houses one of the complete collections of U.S. Congressional documents in their original format. In order to make these records more easily accessible to students, scholars, and interested citizens, A Century of Lawmaking for a New Nation brings together online the records and acts of Congress from the Continental Congress and Constitutional Convention through the 43rd Congress, including the first three volumes of the Congressional Record, 1873-75.

The mission of the Library of Congress is to make its resources available and useful to Congress and the American people and to sustain and preserve a universal collection of knowledge and creativity for future generations. The goal of the Library's National Digital Library Program is to offer broad public access to a wide range of historical and cultural documents as a contribution to education and lifelong learning.

The Library of Congress presents these documents as part of the record of the past. These primary historical documents reflect the attitudes, perspectives, and beliefs of different times. The Library of Congress does not endorse the views expressed in collections, which may contain materials offensive to some readers.

ERRONEOUS RETURN OF SLAVES—FIFTH CENSUS—MASSACHUSETTS, MAINE, OHIO.

LETTER

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF STATE,

TRANSMITTING

The information required by a resolution of the House of Representatives, of the 26th of January, instant, in relation to slaves returned in the 5th Census, in Maine, Massachusetts, and Ohio.

JANURAY 31, 1832.

Read, and laid upon the table.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

January 28th, 1832.

The Secretary of State, in obedience to the resolution of the House of Representatives, of the 26th January, 1832, respectfully submits the following statement, viz:

That, of the four slaves returned as being in the State of Massachusetts.

One is returned by George Wardwell, assistant to the marshal of Massachusetts, as being in the family of Joseph Cummings, of the town of Andover, in Essex county, a female of the age of 100 years and upwards;

One returned by Tyler Goddard, assistant, as being in the family of Prince Walker, of the town of Barre, in Worcester county, a female of the age of 100 years and upwards;

One returned in the abstract, as being in Hampshire county, town of Westhampton, and one as being in the town of Worthington, should have been returned as free persons of color; but by the examiner in this department, were set down in the recapitulation as slaves, by placing them, through inadvertence, in the column of "slaves," instead of that of free persons of color. This error not affecting the total population, more easily escaped detection.

That, of the six persons returned as slaves in Maine,

One is returned by Truman Shaw, assistant to the marshal, as being in the family of Abraham Talbot, of the town of Albion, in Kennebec county, a female over 55 and under 100 years of age; and one in the family of Jesse Dover, of the same town, of 24 and under 36 years of age; and four returned in the abstract, as slaves in the town of Weld, Oxford county, should have been returned as free persons of color, but by the examiner in this department, were set down in the recapitulation as slaves, by placing them, through inadvertency, in the column of "slaves," instead of that of free persons of color.

Of the six slaves returned as being in the State of Ohio,

One is returned by David S. Davis, assistant to the marshal, as being in the family of Joseph Vandever, in Montgomery county, a female over 24 and under 36 years of age;

One returned by Nathan Bond, assistant to the marshal, as being in the family of John Moore, a male over 10 and under 24 years of age;

One returned by E. Vance, assistant to the marshal, as being in the family of William R. Hynes, of Butler county, a female over 10 and under 24 years of age;

One returned by John A. Alexander, assistant to the marshal, as being in the family of James Farr, of Clark county, a female over 24 and under 36 years of age;

One returned by Thomas Heckewelder, assistant to the marshal, as being in the family of Abraham Cust, of Hamilton county, a female, over 10 and under 24 years of age; and one in the family of Andrew Vandyke, of said county, a female over 24 and under 36 years of age.

-Respectfully submitted.

LETTER

THE SECRETARY OF STATE,

TRANSMITTING

An abstract of the returns of the marshal of Connecticut, showing the number of slaves in said district, &c. &c.

JANUARY 30, 1841.

Read, and laid upon the table.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

Washington, January 29, 1841.

I have the honor to transmit the accompanying communication and abstract, in compliance with the resolution of the House of Representatives of the 27th instant, relative to the census returns from the marshal of the district of Connecticut;

And have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

JOHN FORSYTH.

To the SPEAKER of the House of Representatives.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

Washington, January 29, 1841.

SIR: In answer to the resolution of the House of Representatives of the 27th instant, referred to me, I have the honor to enclose the abstract required from the returns of the marshal of Connecticut, showing the number of slaves within that district.

I have to state, in reply to the second clause of said resolution, that the marshal of Connecticut has informed me, personally, that, under the head of the number of "slaves" returned from his district, thirty-seven were negroes of the Amistad. The note on the abstract to that effect was made upon the returns under his dictation.

I remain, very respectfully, sir, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM A. WEAVER.

To the SECRETARY OF STATE.

WILLIAM A. WEAVER.

ARCHIBALD JACKSON.

FEBRUARY 12, 1831.

Mr. STERIGERE, from the Committee on Private Land Claims, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Private Land Claims, to which was referred the resolution of the House of the 31st December, 1830, directing the committee to inquire into the expediency of allowing Archibald Jackson the bounty land due to James Gammons for services in the late war, report:

That they have had the subject under consideration. It appears that the said James Gammons enlisted as a private soldier in the 11th regiment of infantry of the United States, on the 18th of June, 1812, for the period of five years, and continued in the service for the time of his enlistment till the 19th of February, 1813, when "he died in the service of the United States." The act of Congress under which Gammons was enlisted allows to "the heirs and representatives of non-commissioned officers or soldiers who enlisted for five years, and who died in the service of the United States, three months' extra pay and 160 acres of land." At the time of his enlistment and service, Gammons was the slave of the said Archibald Jackson, who never consented to the enlistment, but permitted him to remain in the service. Jackson, as the owner of Gammons, after his death claimed the extra and back pay, amounting to $37 42, and the bounty land. The pay was allowed by the War Department, and paid to Jackson; but the committee are indeed, and are entitled to pay as much bounty to pay for those services as if rendered by another. And the only question is, who are legally entitled to the pay and bounty land due to Gammons? If Jackson had a legal right to the back and extra pay due to Gammons, (and the committee think he had,) the committee cannot conceive any reason why the bounty land should not, also, be allowed to Jackson. The right to both accrued under the same law, both were due for the same services, and the claim to both rests on the same principles. The owner of the slave is entitled to all his property, and, so far as property is concerned, is the legal representative of the slave. Hence, Archibald Jackson, as the legal representative of Gammons, by the words of the law, is entitled to the bounty land due to Gammons, as well as the pay due him. The committee, therefore, report a bill directing the Secretary of War to issue a warrant to said Archibald Jackson for said bounty land.

LAND CLAIMS BETWEEN PERDIDO AND MISSISSIPPI.

[To accompany Senate bill No. 89.]

APRIL 20, 1838.

Mr. HARLAN, from the Committee on Private Land Claims, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Private Land Claims, to whom was referred the bill from the Senate (No. 89) "for giving effect to the eighth article of the treaty of eighteen hundred and nineteen with Spain," report:

That the bill authorizes all bona-fide claimants to lands under sales, grants, and confirmations made by the Spanish Government prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and ten, west of the Perdido, east of the Mississippi, and south of the 31st degree of latitude, to present the same to the district judge of the eastern district of Louisiana for adjudication, under certain restrictions therein mentioned.

The article of the treaty with Spain referred to, and to which the bill proposes to give effect, is contained in the treaty concluded in this city the 22d of February, 1819, by which Spain ceded the provinces of East and West Florida to the United States.

It seems to the committee that claims to land lying between the rivers Mississippi and Perdido were not intended to be provided for by that treaty. The claim set up by Spain to the country between those rivers was never recognised in any form by this Government.

The construction which this Government gave to the treaty of 1803 with France, by which Louisiana was ceded to the United States, was, that the limits of Louisiana extended to the Perdido river. That ground was assumed by this Government immediately after the ratification of the treaty with France, and ever has been since maintained by every department thereof, legislative, executive, and judicial.

The subject-matter of this bill is not for the first time brought to the consideration of this House. During the 22d Congress, at the instance of the then delegate from Florida, (Mr. Joseph M. White,) the Committee on Private Land Claims was instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing by law "for the final adjustment of all the claims to land derived from the former Government of Spain, and its local authorities, in that part of West Florida between the Mississippi and Perdido rivers, from the date of the Louisiana treaty, in 1803, to the proclamation of President Madison, in 1810."

The proposition met with no favor with that committee; it was discharged from the further consideration thereof, and the subject referred to the Committee on the Public Lands, where it met a similar fate. On the motion of the same gentleman, the subject was referred to the then Secretary of State, (Mr. Edward Livingston,) with instructions to give his opinion of the validity of the claims to which the resolution had reference. A report from that gentleman was promptly communicated, in which he expressed an opinion favorable to the claims, and recommended the passage of a law (a draught of which he submitted) confirming them absolutely and unconditionally.

The report of Mr. Livingston was afterwards, and during the same session, referred to the Committee on the Public Lands, who reported thereon the 11th July, 1832.

This committee concur in the views of the Committee on the Public Lands, in their report, and adopt it as a part hereof.

There is one remarkable feature in the bill to which the committee cannot forbear to call the attention of the House. It is this: it confers on the judge of the eastern district of Louisiana, not only the power of deciding on claims within the limits of his own district, but gives him jurisdiction to hear and decide on claims to lands lying within the States of Alabama and Mississippi.

The passage of this bill would be a repeal of the act of 1804, declaring these and similar claims null and void: it would be a virtual admission that the act of the 24th February, 1804, establishing the bay and river of Mobile into a collection district, was an act to collect duties and imposts in a territory rightfully belonging to Spain; that all the legislation of Congress and the acts of the executive department of this Government, from 1804 to 1810, which were intended to operate, and did operate, in that part of Louisiana between the Mississippi and Perdido rivers, were in fraud of the just rights of Spain, and a usurpation of her rightful authority: it would be an abandonment of the stand early taken and always maintained by us; it would reverse the solemn adjudications of the Supreme Court of the nation, given in some of the cases provided for by the bill; and it would annihilate the original legality of thousands of claims in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

The committee cannot therefore recommend the passage of this bill; and submit the following resolutions, and recommend their adoption by the House:

1. Resolved, That the United States are not bound by the treaty with Spain to confirm the titles to any lands between the Perdido and the Mississippi rivers, other than such claims as are or may be excepted from the operation of the 14th section of the act of Congress entitled "An act erecting Louisiana into two territories, and providing for the temporary government thereof," approved 26th March, 1804.

2. Resolved, That the 8th article of the treaty with Spain of the 22d February, 1819, has no reference or binding effect upon grants of land made by the Spanish authorities after 20th December, 1803, lying between the Mississippi and the Perdido rivers; and that these claims must depend upon the provisions of the treaty of the 30th of April, 1803, between the United States and France, and the legislation of Congress, for their confirmation or rejection.

3. Resolved, That Senate bill (No. 89) entitled "An act for giving effect to the eighth article of the treaty of eighteen hundred and nineteen with Spain," ought not to pass.

C.

Cosby,] are not valid, agreeably to the laws, usages, or customs of such Government."*

LETTER

THE COMMISSIONER

OF

THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE,

TRANSMITTING

REPORTS OF THE LAND COMMISSIONERS

AT JACKSON COURT HOUSE.

NOVEMBER 17, 1820.

Printed by order of the Senate of the United States.

WASHINGTON:

PRINTED BY GALES & SEATON.

1820.

LAND OFFICE AT JACKSON COURT HOUSE,

August 17, 1820.

SIR: In conformity with requisition of the ninth section of the act of Congress, entitled "An act for adjusting the claims to Land and establishing Land Offices in the districts east of the Island of New Orleans," I have the honor to report lists or registers of all the claims to land which have been filed in this office, with the substance of the evidence in support thereof, and such remarks upon the claims as appeared to me to be proper.

In consequence of the suggestion in your letter of the 15th November last, evidence of claims to lots in the town of Mobile has been received, which you will find in register No. 7.

Register No. 9, and the accompanying papers, contain a full report of the evidence, and the opinion of the Register and Receiver, in relation to the conflicting claims of Joseph M'Candless and Regis Bermody.

I have the honor, &c.

W. BARTON, Register.

Hon. J. MEIGS, Com. Gen. Land Office,
Washington City.

MEMORIAL

CITIZENS OF BROWNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA,

In favor of restoring the Public Deposites to the Bank of the United States.

MARCH 24, 1834.

Read, and laid upon the table.

To the honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled :

The undersigned, citizens of the United States and residents of Brownville and its vicinity, in the western part of Pennsylvania, beg leave respectfully to represent that they, with other portions of the people, in other and more important sections of the country, have not been indifferent to the all absorbing topic now agitating Congress, viz. the moneyed concerns of the country, its disarrangement, &c. growing out of the removal of the deposits from the Bank of the United States, and humbly add their solemn protest against the measure, lest their silence should be taken as an acquiescence in an act which every man of sound mind and sober habits in these parts deem unlawful and impolitic, threatening the most serious evils to all classes. Already is the alarm apparent. Every man seems distrustful of his neighbor's circumstances. Credit is vanishing, property and produce falling. Secretly but vigilantly all are preparing, as it were, for some great event. The improvement of the country seems entirely at an end. Not a sign of preparation for building, or improvement of any kind, in town or country, whilst every honest debtor is trembling for his fate. That your best efforts will be exerted by a wise legislation to avert the threatening calamity, is the confident hope of your memorialists.

FAILURE OF THE SCHEME FOR THE COLONIZATION OF NEGROES IN MEXICO.

MESSAGE

OF THE

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

RELATING TO

The failure of the scheme for the colonization of negroes in Mexico and the necessity of returning them to their homes in Alabama.

JANUARY 27, 1896.—Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and ordered to be printed.

To the House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith a report from the Secretary of State with copies of all correspondence of record relating to the failure of the scheme for the colonization of negroes in Mexico, necessitating their return to their homes in Alabama.

I referred to this matter in my message to Congress at the beginning of the present session, and, for the reasons then given, I again urge the propriety of making an appropriation to cover the cost of transportation furnished by the railway companies.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
Washington, January 27, 1896.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
Washington, January 25, 1896.

The PRESIDENT:

In your message of December 2 to Congress you adverted to the failure of a scheme for the colonization in Mexico of certain American negroes, to the destitution and suffering which overtook the emigrants in their efforts to return to this country, and to the relief furnished them in emergency by this Government. In the absence of any fund available for payment of their transportation, assurance was given through the consul at Piedras Negras to certain railway companies that Congress would be urged to make an appropriation to cover the cost of transportation of the negroes to their homes. Accounts have been submitted as follows:

The Mexican International Railway Company transported 420 adults and 83 children from Torreon, Mexico, to Eagle Pass, Tex., a distance of 385 miles, at $6 (Mexican) each for adults (about three-fourths of a cent per mile, United States currency), and half price for children, making the full amount due that railway $1,474.49, United States currency.

The Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway (Southern Pacific) transported 334 negroes at the uniform rate of 1 cent per mile each from Eagle Pass, Tex., to New Orleans, La., making the full amount due that railway $2,471.60.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company transported 326 negroes at the uniform rate of 1 cent per mile each from New Orleans, La., to Birmingham, Ala., making the full amount due that railroad $1,141.

The charges amount in all to $5,087.09, and appear to be just and reasonable.

I append copies of the correspondence giving a history of the colony and the itemized statements of the expenses incurred.

Respectfully submitted.

RICHARD OLNEY.

Mr. Burke to Mr. Uhl.

No. 12.]

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES,
Chihuahua, May 28, 1895. (Received June 4.)

SIR: I have the honor to inclose deposition of one Sam Claber, an American negro, who, in company with about 750 other Americans, left the United States in September, 1894, and joined a colony in the State of Coahuila, Republic of Mexico.

He states that they were cruelly treated; he with his wife and children and 49 others stole away in the night and were making their way toward the United States; he was very anxious that his story of the wrongs of his people should be presented to the Department of State.

On the same day, May 21, also came to this city one Anthony Jones, an American negro, who had also been a member of the said colony, and who in company with 39 others had stolen away. Mr. Jones claimed that his entire party except himself was overtaken the day following their escape by a party of armed Mexican guards employed by those in charge of the colony, and upon the Americans refusing to return to the colony shot and killed 38; Jones being some distance in advance and by hiding escaped detection and was an eyewitness to the shooting.

When I found Mr. Jones he was very ill and suffering great pain, and it was with great effort that he managed to speak. I called a physician who, after an examination, pronounced Jones as suffering from a well-developed case of typhoid pneumonia. I had him removed to the city hospital and did all in my power for him; he died May 26. Not being able to secure his sworn statement, I questioned the propriety of my writing, but the number of stories which have been circulated concerning reported outrages of this colony has worked the Americans up to a high pitch of excitement.

This colony is just outside of my consular district, 30 miles east of Mapimi.

I am, etc.,

R. M. BURKE, Consul.

[Inclosure.]

UNITED STATES CONSULATE,
Chihuahua, Mexico, May 21, 1895.

Personally appeared before me, R. M. Burke, consul of the United States of America at Chihuahua, on this day, Sam Claber, who, after being duly sworn, deposes and says that his name is Sam Claber, an American citizen, born at Tuscaloosa, State of Alabama, United States of America; he is 26 years of age and married, with wife and two children; he is by occupation a coal miner. In September, 1894, he was induced by false representation to leave his home in the United States with his wife and family, and in company with between 700 and 800 other citizens of the United States, and come to a colony in the State of Coahuila, Republic of Mexico. He states that after arriving at the colony he found they had been deceived; they found themselves in the worst form of bondage, with no hope of ever securing liberty; no letter wrote to friends stating the facts or conditions of their sufferings was ever permitted to reach the United States. He says they were cruelly and inhumanly treated, the food furnished being insufficient and not fit to eat. Notwithstanding that many were ill—due to change of climate, mode of living, etc.—they received no proper medical attendance.

And he further states that any attempt to escape from the colony would, in his belief, be punished with death.

He, in behalf of his remaining relatives who are held against their will, would pray the Department of State of the United States to make an investigation of this colony in the hope that the wrongs which his relatives and countrymen now suffer may be speedily righted and justice done.

SAM (his x mark) CLABER.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the consulate of the United States of America, at Chihuahua, Mexico, on the day and year first above written.

Mr. Ellis to Mr. Gresham.

TLAHUALILO, May 31, 1895. (Received June 10.)

DEAR SIR: In February of present year I imported from the United States some 800 Afro-Americans (citizens) to this Republic under contract which I have inclosed and in every respect complied with my contract, but from time to time I have noticed articles which have appeared in dierat journals of the United States in which they have surveryarly critized me and have printed interviews from prisons supposed to have been here in which they have denounced the interprise as a slave Colony and that the people are held in Bondage, but to thease reports I paid no attention, untill I noticed that News had been wired from El Paso Texas under date of May 24th pretending to be an interview from one Sam Clairbone in which he says togetather with 40 others who attempted to escape and that while he ascaped 38 wer shot and gave the names of all he supposed to have remember who wer shot I hare-in send you a Statement of Facts from the men who he says wer shot and denounce the report as untrew and in the name of the Compania Agricola Industrial Colonizadora Limitada del Tlahualilo and in justic to the good Colonist that are here; as well as to my name I brought them here, and feel a grate responcibility on me in sight of God and my fellow man and want the truth through your good Office to be made known.

This I ask for an Investigation and any person you send will be cared for and given all chance and opportunity to make a thorough and complete investigation to their perfect satisfaction.

And the world may know the truth.

Hoping an early reply, I am very respectfully,

W. H. ELLIS.

Statement of Facts.

Noticing that there have been circulated in the U. S. A. reported that we were held Slaves and that on May 9th, 1895, 40 of us were shot we the under Signes are the ones who the report says were killed begin Justice to our Selves Race the feature of the Colony and the Reputation of Mr. W. H. Ellis who has did more for our Race than any other living Man. Since the days Lin. Lincon on or about the first of April Mr. Ellis left for N. Y. and we herd that he would never return, as he was the only man in this Country we knew and we come Perless Looking to him for our support untill our first crops was greater according to Contract and fearing he was not going to Return We come to a conclusions to go to the U. S. A. and Started across the Mountain not knowing the Road about 3 o'clock in the day the Mexicans employer told us we would Perish for watter and if we attempted to cross the mountain and also told us Mr. Ellis was on his way to N. Y. to Mexico we got in the wagon and return no one killed are hurt on Mr. Ellis account our agreement was Straten and Now we are thinging out Cotton

THE STATE OF ———, County of ———.

This memorandum of an agreement made and entered into by and between W. H. Ellis, of Tlahualila, Mexico, party of the first part, and ——— ———, parties of the second part, witnesseth:

1. The said W. H. Ellis, party of the first part, agrees to furnish said parties of the second part 60 acres of land, or more, according to size of family and working force, situated in the State of Durango, Republic of Mexico, 40 acres of which land is to be planted in cotton and 15 acres to be planted in corn, all of which is to be worked in a skilful and workmanlike manner and under the direction and supervision of the party of the first part, or his representative, said party of the first part reserving the right to hire labor and have said land properly worked. If said parties of the second part should fail to properly work said land, the expense of such labor to be charged to the parties of the second part.

2. The party of the first part agrees to donate or give to the parties of the second part, free of rent, 5 acres of arable land, to be used for the sole purpose of cultivating such vegetables as may be necessary for the sustenance of the family. Under no circumstances are said 5 acres of land to be used for any other purpose than the cultivation of vegetables.

3. The 60 acres of land, or more, rented to the parties of the second part by the parties of the first part shall be free of grubs and all obstacles in the way of farming.

4. The party of the first part obligates himself to furnish the parties of the second part water, free of charge, for irrigation purposes, but in such quantity only as is proportionate to the amount received through the canal for the Tlahualila Company.

5. All farming implements, such as are used in the United States, and mules and teams for farming purposes and for harvesting purposes, to be furnished free to the parties of the second part by the party of the first part, and food for said teams as well, the parties of the second part obligating themselves to return all of said implements and teams at the end of the year, in as good condition as received, the natural wear and tear excepted, but holding themselves liable for all negligence in breaking said implements or injuring said animals. Said party of the first part agrees to fur-money or merchandise are furnished to each colonist, according to this clause, will be paid to the company by the colonists from their 50 per cent of the crop of the year in which the company makes the advance.

18. The product of the crops of cotton, corn, and cotton seed will be divided as follows: 50 per cent for the colonists, 40 per cent for the company, and 10 per cent for only five years for Mr. Ellis as a remuneration for his labor, which as colonization agent he gives to the company. The company as a remuneration also shall give to Mr. Ellis 50 per cent of the passage money of the colonists, which, as previously expressed, is to be collected from the colonists from their part of the second crop of the land which they cultivate, with the understanding that the price of the passage of each colonist shall not exceed, as already expressed, the sum of $20 American money for each colonist.

19. The company shall enjoy the preference to acquire all the cotton, cotton seed, corn, and every other seed belonging to the colonists in each crop.

20. Mr. Ellis shall organize the colony, determining their appurtenances, and shall indicate to the company the persons who represent them, and arrange all the matters which concern them.

21. The implements of agriculture necessary for the colonists shall be determined by Mr. Ellis in agreement with the colonists; and the company, as expressed in a previous clause, is to furnish them.

22. Mr. Ellis may establish on the company's land one or more stores, as may be necessary for the colonists, being subject to the regulations of the company on this point.

23. The company shall give preference to Mr. Ellis for every contract for colonization which it may make in future, and in case that other colonists come to Tlahualilo, on account of or by relation with the colonists which Mr. Ellis obligates himself to establish, and if the company agrees to receive them, then Mr. Ellis shall receive 10 per cent of the crops of cotton, cotton seed, and corn produced by these colonists for five years, counting from the time that the company admits them installed.

24. The colonist can not dispose of his part of the crop of each year without a previous liquidation with the company and payment of his debts to it.

25. Mr. Ellis will arrange his contract with the colonists in such terms that they shall be obligated to fulfill the requirements of this contract and accept the stipulation referring to them.

26. Besides the recompense assigned to Mr. Ellis for his work and expenses he can claim nor require nothing else.

27. Mr. Ellis obligates himself that at the latest the 100 families which he is to bring from the United States shall be at Tlahualilo by February 15, 1895, and in condition expressed. If by said date he has not fulfilled his obligation the company shall not be compelled to receive the colonists nor to pay their passage nor to fulfill any of the obligations imposed; but on the contrary shall have the right to require a reimbursement for the sums furnished Mr. Ellis, taking the guaranty furnished to the company by Mr. Ellis.

28. Every difference which may arise on account of this contract shall be settled by the Mexican courts, to whose jurisdiction the contracting parties expressly subject themselves, and in conformity with existing laws, renouncing in effect expressly the foreign feature of their domiciles, whatever that may in future be.

Legal forms.

Further agreement, that annually shall be liquidated the accounts by paying the quantities which each colonist may owe the company on account of ready money, provisions, and medicine advanced, and this value shall be received by the company from colonists, 50 per cent of the crop of that year, and that in a year of short crop the company, acting with prudence, shall collect only a part of the debts, and the rest from the crop of the following year. It is agreed that the colonists shall pay to the company the value of the animals which die in their possession, also the value of the tools which they break, injure, or destroy.

Recorded by the notary public in Mexico December 11, 1894.

[See form of contract in Ellis's letter of May 31, 1895, above.]

MEXICAN COLONIZATION COMPANY,

Get ready at once!—

Mexico!

Mexico!

Mexico!

Wanted, 500 colored country farm hands, in families, to go to Mapimi, Mexico, to farm on the one-half shares, to start not later than the 25th January; wanted to arrive on the twenty-ninth. Railroad fare will be advanced, together with clothing, provisions, medicines, and all necessities, until after the cropping year; the greatest opportunity ever offered to the colored people of the United States to go to Mexico, which is better known as the country of "God and Liberty," and which offers unequalled inducements for agricultural laborers in the growth of cotton and corn.

The lands are beautifully situated in the State of Durango, in the northeasterly portion of the Republic of Mexico; lands are cleared and ready for farming purposes, situated on the railroad.

The soil being rich and fertile, cotton has only to be replanted every four or seven years, and can easily raise a bale to the acre, and corn 50 to 75 bushels to the acre, while cotton is worth 17½ cents per pound and corn selling at one dollar per bushel. The lands are irrigated by a canal that traverses over twenty-five miles around the plantation, and furnishes water when it is needed. Thus you are independent of rains or seasons and no chance of a poor crop or failure. We will furnish mules that are quite gentle and ready for work; also plows, hoes, harrows, planters, and all agricultural implements that are used in the United States for farming purposes. We also agree to furnish comfortable houses to live in, and give every family during the time they remain on the plantation five acres of land free for gardening for the maintenance of their families.

In consideration of the above facts, we give to the colonists one-half of the cotton, corn, etc., that they may raise on the said lands, they, of course, to repay their indebtedness to the company.

Do you want to join this colony?

If you do, state the number in your family between the ages of 12 and 50 years, and what will be your nearest railroad station to start from, and if you can be ready by the 25th of January.

We wish to impress on your minds that the great Republic of Mexico extends to all of its citizens the same treatment—equal rights to all, special privileges to none. Send in your lists of families and names at once, or you will get left.

100 able-bodied families wanted for first shipment. After that shipments will be made every 30 days in large numbers.

All kinds fine game, such as deer, bear, duck, wild geese, and all manner of small game, as well as opossum. Provisions worth half what they are in the United States.

There will be one church and one schoolhouse to each one hundred families; you select your own preacher from among yourselves.

You will pay back one-half of your transportation the first year, and four years to pay balance, without interest. No interest charged on any advancements of money or provisions.

You will only be charged up with one-half the railroad fare; the other half will be made a present to you by the company. This is one of the inducements they offer you to come and help settle up this glorious country and better your condition. They need labor badly, and prefer the colored people to the Chinese and Italians. An average good family, who will work and live economically and take care of what they make, can clear from a thousand to twelve hundred dollars per year.

Lands can be bought up in the State of Durango cheaper than you can fertilize an acre in the State of Georgia or Alabama to raise a bale of cotton.

Will take people at Mobile, Montgomery, Birmingham, Tuscaloosa, and Selma, Alabama; also, Meridian, Miss. Write or telegraph me at any of the above addresses, in care of general delivery, or to

THE HEALTH OF THE INSTITUTION.

The completion of the eastern section of the primary department building in December last, in which greatly improved accommodations are afforded for the male pupils, has served to diminish the amount of sickness in our household usually incident to the inclement season of winter, and we are able to report a year of unusual exemption from disease.

One case of typhoid fever appeared in May, of a serious character, but by the blessing of a kind Providence, seconded by skilful medical treatment and faithful nursing, the patient recovered.

During the vacation one of our pupils, named John A. Unglebower, of Frederick county, Maryland, was seized with gastric fever, and after a short illness died. He was a boy of exemplary character and good promise, whose early death is mourned by all who knew him.

On the first day of June last two members of our college, James Cross, of Pennsylvania, and Malachi Hollowell, of Illinois, were removed by death under circumstances of a peculiarly distressing nature.

A large party of the students were bathing in the Eastern branch, when suddenly Mr. Cross was seized with cramp or convulsions, and though he had prompt assistance from his companions, some undergoing great personal danger in their efforts to save their friend, he died before he could be brought to the shore; not drowned, apparently, but yielding to some violent congestion, the action or cause of which can never be definitely understood.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Cross it was observed that Mr. Hollowell was nowhere to be seen, and the sad conviction was forced upon the minds of his friends that he had been seized as was his companion, or that he had lost his presence of mind in the excitement of seeing his fellow-student in mortal danger. His remains were recovered on the day following the accident, and, with those of Mr. Cross, interred in the lot of the institution in Glenwood cemetery.

The loss to the college of these two promising young men is felt most keenly by officers and students; consolation, however, being allowed us in the hope that they were not unprepared to meet the sudden and unexpected summons, and in the conviction that the voice of God, as uttered in this afflictive dispensation, has been heard and heeded among our surviving students.

The esteem in which these young men were held by the officers of the college is attested by the following extracts from the records of the faculty :

" Mr. Cross, a member of the sophomore class at the time of his death, was a young man of singularly blameless life and character. He was simple-minded, genuinely honest, and unaffectedly modest. A leading characteristic of his mind was a sincere love of truth, and a desire for an absolutely thorough understanding of whatever he made a subject of study. Without the stimulus of selfish rivalry, he aimed at intellectual acquisition for its own sake and as a preparation for usefulness in life. His all-absorbing desire was to make himself master of the English language, and in this he had succeeded to a remarkable degree. The critical and analytical faculties predominated in his mind, and in his inquiries into the structure of language, as well as on other subjects, he showed a persevering thoroughness and a penetrating acuteness which gave promise that he would be an honor to the college, and encouraged the hope that he might eventually accomplish something of especial value in some line of study.

" Mr. Hollowell, of the preparatory class, was a young man of high moral and intellectual aspirations, meditative habits, an impressible and somewhat romantic temperament, and was gifted with imagination and poetic sensibility in no common degree. His temper and disposition were most amiable and lovely. He was reverent and conscientious, and had a heart overflowing with love to his fellow-men and to all the creatures of God. He evinced capacities which it was not unreasonable to hope might be so developed and trained as at length to gain for him an honorable name in the world of letters, and to fulfil his desires of thus doing something to benefit mankind.

" Both of these young men were dear to our hearts and full of promise to our hopes. We feel their deaths as a personal grief and disappointment and as a real loss to the college. But God's ways are not as our ways. We bow with submission to His chastening hand, and would give heed to the admonition which calls upon us for earnestness, fidelity, and devotedness in the work which we have here to do."

A testimonial of respect was likewise adopted by the students, on the evening after the accident, in the following preamble and resolutions :

"Whereas God in His infinite wisdom has removed from among us by sudden and violent deaths our fellow-students and classmates, James Cross and Malachi Hollowell : Therefore be it

"Resolved, That our great respect for the characters of the deceased will not permit the occasion to pass without some expression of our sorrow and regret for the sad calamity which not only deprives us of esteemed friends and companions, but also entails upon the college the loss of two of its most promising young men.

"Resolved, That we tender our sympathy to the parents who are by this sorrowful event stricken with grief at the death of faithful and loving sons, and that we grieve with them and with all the friends of the deceased.

"Resolved, That we wear a badge of mourning for a period of thirty days as an appropriate token of respect to the memory of our dead comrades.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to their respective parents, and that a copy be also furnished to the National Deaf-Mute Gazette for publication."

CHANGES IN CORPS OF OFFICERS.

The vacancy in the primary department alluded to in our last report as having been occasioned by the retirement of Mr. Ijams, has been filled by the appointment of Mrs. Elizabeth L. Denison, a deaf-mute lady, who has for several years

REGULATIONS.

I. The academic year is divided into two terms—the first beginning on the second Thursday in September, and closing on the 24th of December; the second beginning the 2d of January, and closing the last Wednesday in June.

II. The vacations are from the 24th of December to the 2d of January, and from the last Wednesday in June to the second Thursday in September.

III. There are holidays at Thanksgiving and at Easter.

IV. The pupils may visit their homes during the regular vacations and at the above-named holidays, but at no other times, unless for some special urgent reason, and then only by permission of the president.

V. The bills for the maintenance and tuition of pupils supported by their friends must be paid semi-annually in advance.

VI. The charge for pay pupils is $150 each per annum. This sum covers all expenses except clothing.

VII. The government of the United States defrays the expenses of those who reside in the District of Columbia, or whose parents are in the army or navy, provided they are unable to pay for their education.

VIII. The State of Maryland provides for the education in this institution of deaf-mutes whose parents are in poor circumstances, when the applicants are under twenty-one years of age, have been residents of the State for two years prior to the date of application, and are of good mental capacity.

Persons in Maryland desiring to secure the benefit of the provisions above referred to are requested to address the president of the institution.

IX. It is expected that the friends of the pupils will provide them with clothing, and it is important that upon entering or returning to the institution they should be supplied with a sufficient amount for an entire year. All clothing should be plainly marked with the owner's name.

X. All letters concerning pupils or applications for admission should be addressed to the president.

Claim.—The described arrangement, by which the strip placed on the slide G is advanced to the knife for the severance of the blank, the latter being clamped in position for the second operation of shaping, substantially as described and represented.

No. 51,588.—MARTIN HESTER, New York, N. Y.—Piano-forte Action.—December 19, 1865.—This invention consists of a spring applied to the hinge butts of piano-forte actions at the end of the silt, for the purpose of contracting or widening the same in a regular manner, and enabling the functions of the hinge to be perfectly discharged.

Claim.—The application of the metallic spring a in piano-forte actions, for the purpose substantially described and set forth.

No. 51,589.—J. M. HUBBARD, West Haven, Conn.—Machine for Husking Corn.—December 19, 1865.—This invention consists in the use of a series of knives arranged with rollers in such a manner as to cut the ears from the stalks and separate the latter from the former; and also in the use of a wheel and one or more rollers, arranged in connection with the above in such a manner as to strip the husks from the ears.

Claim.—The cutter D attached to blocks E, in combination with the bars F fitted on the rod H, the arms h of blocks E and the fixed bar i in the box A, all arranged substantially as and for the purpose set forth.

Also, in combination with the parts above specified, the conical rollers L and wheel K, all arranged substantially as and for the purpose specified.

No. 51,590.—MICHAEL HUET, Miamisburg, Ohio.—Washing Machine.—December 19, 1865.—This invention consists of two slotted beaters so journaled as to beat and compress the clothing on each side against a fixed and central slotted beater.

Claim.—The tub A A' B B' C, having at its mid length the vertical slotted partition D D' d, in the described combination with the oscillating two-winged slotted beater E F f G g H H', constructed and operating substantially as set forth.

No. 51,593.—GEORGE B. JEWETT, Salem, Mass.—Artificial Leg.—December 19, 1865.—The nature and object of this invention are explained by the claim and engraving.

Claim.—In artificial legs, designed for the treatment of the kind of cases hereinbefore mentioned, the above-explained arrangement of the knee joints with respect to the knee rest G, such joints under such arrangement being brought above the bearing of the natural knee on the rest, and so as to be in or about in the prolongation of the axis of motion of the knee.

Also, the improved knee-joint, constructed substantially as described, viz., with the joint pin screwed into the external parts of the joint and with one of such parts connected to the other by screws or their equivalents.

Also, the combination of the knee rest, stirrup, or supporter D and its thigh belt, sustaining branches b b with the tibia post branches c c, arranged as specified.

Also, the combination of the knee rest G, its supporter D, the thigh belt branches b b, and the tibia post branches c c, arranged as specified.

Also, the combination of the thigh belt or flexible lacing socket H, the knee rest G, the supporter D, and the branches b b and c c hinged together and connected with the tibia post, the whole being substantially as hereinbefore explained.

Also, the arrangement of the retractile strap with, or its application directly to, the knee rest as described.

51593—B. B. Jewett—Artificial Leg.

MESSAGE

FROM THE

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

TRANSMITTING,

In answer to a resolution of the House of Representatives of December 10, 1866, a report of the Attorney General, containing an additional list of names of persons engaged in the late rebellion who have been pardoned.

---

JULY 19, 1867.--Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary and ordered to be printed.

To the House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith a report from the Attorney General, additional to the reports submitted by him December 31, 1866, and March 2, 1867, in reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives of December 10, 1866, requesting a "list of names of all persons engaged in the late rebellion against the United States government who have been pardoned by the President from April 15, 1865, to this date; that said list shall also state the rank of each person who has been so pardoned, if he has been engaged in the military service of the so-called confederate government, and the position, if he shall have held any civil office under said so-called confederate government; and shall also further state whether such person has, at any time prior to April 14, 1861, held any office under the United States government, and, if so, what office, together with the reasons for granting such pardons; and also the names of the person or persons at whose solicitation such pardon was granted."

ANDREW JOHNSON.

REPORT
OF THE
ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS, FOR
The period of the late rebellion, and to November 1, 1866.

NOTE.

In November last the following report was submitted, in manuscript, to the legislature of the State of Arkansas, as a document accompanying the governor's message. That body, however, disregarding the governor's recommendation that by their order it should be printed, and having otherwise shown their hostility to the efficient management of the adjutant general's office, my petition to Congress for the publication of this report, in order that some record might be preserved of the loyal soldiery of a rebellious State, was, on the 25th ultimo, presented by Hon. Henry Wilson, chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs. Subsequently the following proceedings were had:

"IN SENATE, Friday, February 15, 1867.

"ARKANSAS LOYAL TROOPS.

"MR. ANTHONY. The Committee on Printing, to whom was referred a memorial of Albert W. Bishop, adjutant general of Arkansas, praying that an appropriation be made for the publication of his report presented to the legislature of that State, have instructed me to report a resolution in conformity with the prayer of the memorialist; and, if the Senate will now indulge me, I will state the object of the resolution, and ask for its present consideration, if no one objects, because as the Senate nearly always indulges the Committee on Printing with the present consideration of their resolutions, I do not wish to ask for it unless it is necessary for the public service. All the loyal States have prepared rosters of the men who served in the loyal army, and they have been published, with the reports of the adjutants general of the various States.

"The State of Arkansas furnished over ten thousand men to the loyal army. The adjutant general presented his report, with a roster of those names, to the legislature of that State, which is now under disloyal control, and they have refused to publish it, so that there is no record whatever of the services of these gallant men. It seemed to the committee that it was due to them that this dereliction on the part of their own State should be made up by Congress. They have also received a letter from General Grant, strongly urging the publication of the report. Now, if no senator objects, I ask for the present consideration of the resolution.

"By unanimous consent the Senate proceeded to consider the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the report of Albert W. Bishop, adjutant general of Arkansas, be printed for the use of the Senate, and that one thousand extra copies be printed for the use of the adjutant general of Arkansas, to be distributed among the loyal officers of that State mentioned therein.

"The resolution was agreed to."

For this recognition of their military services in sustaining the national flag and defending the honor of a common country, the Union men of Arkansas are profoundly grateful to the Senate of the United States and General Grant.

ALBERT W. BISHOP,
Adjutant General of Arkansas.

HEADQUARTERS STATE OF ARKANSAS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Little Rock, November 1, 1866.

GOVERNOR: I have the honor to transmit herewith my report of the organization and operations of the loyal troops of the State during the late rebellion, and the transactions of this department since the establishment of the present State government.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
ALBERT W. BISHOP,
Adjutant General.

His Excellency ISAAC MURPHY,
Governor of Arkansas.

REPORT.

The gathering storm of 1860 was nowhere more sincerely regretted than by thousands in the south. In this State there was sincere devotion to the Union, but her power was mainly wielded by open or concealed enemies of the general government, and it was impossible to stay the tide that swept her into rebellion.

On the 6th day of May, 1861, the State assumed to secede. Union men who were members of the convention, and even signed the ordinance of secession, and those who sympathized with them throughout the State, were for many months powerless in council and the field, and some, indeed, never threw off their enforced adhesion to the southern confederacy until the war had ceased, and the confederacy itself was hopelessly shattered. For nearly a year, in fact, after this attempted secession of the State, there was a substantial want of concert of action among Union men, and they quietly submitted to what they could not prevent, or fled for security to the caves and hills. Thus wore away the first year of the war.

After the battle of Pea Ridge, in March, 1862, and while General Curtis was traversing the northern portion of the State from the Upper White river to Helena, on the Mississippi, the Union men of Arkansas began to appear within the federal lines, and efforts for their military organization were promptly made. Some of them, meantime, participated in the battle referred to, fighting with whatever regiment they fell in with; and when General Curtis arrived at Batesville, he found several hundred men ready to enter the service of the United States. For weeks they had been partly organized, and were only waiting a favorable opportunity to identify themselves more efficiently with the Union cause. Accompanying the army to Helena, they entered the service as mounted infantry. For an account of their organization and services, attention is called to Appendix A.

The successful issue of the battle of Pea Ridge was the signal for loyal citizens, especially in northwestern Arkansas, to leave their homes for the federal lines. Many came, also, from the woods where for months they had secreted themselves, and shortly there assembled at Cassville, Missouri, a number sufficient to warrant the organization of a company. M. La Rue Harrison, of the thirty-sixth Illinois infantry volunteers, then post quartermaster at the place last mentioned, conceived the idea of effecting this organization, and with great assiduity immediately set about the accomplishment of his purpose. A company was promptly organized, with himself as captain, and attached to the sixth Missouri cavalry volunteers, then commanded by Colonel Clark Wright.

Loyal Arkansians, however, continuing still to cross the border, Colonel Harrison (as he afterwards became) now determined to raise a regiment, and one to be known distinctively as an Arkansas organization. Without delay he applied to the Secretary of War for authority to raise the first regiment of Arkansas cavalry volunteers. Hon. John S. Phelps, of Missouri, then in Washington, heartily seconded his efforts, and by dint of no little persistency succeeded in obtaining a special order to raise the regiment. At first the department was averse to granting the order, but the loyalty of these men admitted of no doubt, and on the 16th day of June, 1862, the order was issued.

As will more fully appear from Appendix A, the raising of this regiment gave great encouragement to loyal citizens of the State, especially in the northwest, and was followed, as soon as circumstances would allow, by the organization and muster in for three years or during the war of the first and second regiments of Arkansas infantry, the second Arkansas cavalry, and battery A, first Arkansas light artillery. To the commanders of these and all other organizations sent by Arkansas into the field to maintain the integrity of the Union, great credit is due for the prosecution of their labors under circumstances both extraordinary and anomalous.

A large proportion of the population of the State had in one form or another identified themselves with the rebellion. Public sentiment was disloyal, and a citizen of the State could do no act so odious to the majority as enlisting in the federal army. It was regarded as the clearest evidence of treason, and for a time there was a strong disposition not to accord to "Arkansas federals," as they were termed, the rights of prisoners of war. Happily, however, wiser counsels prevailed, and this feature in warfare, which at first seemed to be culminating in the worst form of retaliation, was no longer observable.

After the occupation of Helena by the United States forces in the summer of 1862, it was thought advisable that a military governor for the State should be created, and a commission was accordingly issued to Hon. John S. Phelps, to whom the following instructions were given:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington City, July 19, 1862.

SIR: The commission you have received expresses on its face the nature and extent of the duties and power devolved on you by the appointment of military governor of Arkansas.

Instructions have been given to Major General Butler to aid you in the performance of your duty and the exercise of your authority. He has also been instructed to detail an adequate military force for the special purpose of a governor's guard, and to act under your directions.

It is obvious to you that the great purpose of your appointment is to re-establish the authority of the federal government in the State of Arkansas, and to provide the means of maintaining peace and security to the loyal inhabitants of that State, until they shall be able to re-establish a civil government. Upon your wisdom and energetic action much will depend in accomplishing that result. It is not deemed necessary to give any specific instructions, but rather to confide in your sound discretion to adopt such measures as circumstances may demand. Specific instructions will be given when requested. You may rely upon the perfect confidence and full support of the department in the performance of your duties.

With respect, I am, your obedient servant,

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

HON. JOHN S. PHELPS,
Military Governor of Arkansas.

First regiment Arkansas cavalry volunteers. Mustered into service August 7, 1862, (three years ; ) mustered out August 23, 1865.

FIRST ARKANSAS CAVALRY VOLUNTEERS.—HISTORICAL MEMORANDA.

On the 29th day of March, 1862, while the "Army of the Southwest" was lying at Cross Timbers, Missouri, M. La Rue Harrison, of the 36th Illinois infantry volunteers, applied for and received authority from General Curtis to recruit a company for the 6th Missouri cavalry volunteers, and proposed to enlist citizens of the State of Arkansas, many of whom had escaped conscription, and were then entering various regiments in the national army.

On the 12th of May, 1862, eleven men from Washington county, Arkansas, made their appearance at the post of Cassville, Missouri, and were sworn into the service of the United States; on the 18th of the same month about twenty more were added, and on the 1st of June the organization, numbering forty-five men, moved from Cassville to join a battalion of the 6th Missouri cavalry volunteers, then stationed at Forsyth, Missouri. On the march, Captain Harrison learned that many more than men enough to complete one squadron were on their way from Arkansas to join him, and he telegraphed to Hon. John S. Phelps, tendering through him, to the President, a regiment of loyal Arkansians for the United States volunteer army. On the following day a reply was received that the President would accept the regiment, provided it was completed within twenty days. Subsequent telegrams prolonged the time for an additional twenty days; and on the 3d day of July, 1862, the following letter was received:

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Washington, June 16, 1862.

SIR: The Secretary of War hereby authorizes you to raise a regiment of cavalry from the loyal men of Arkansas, to be completed by the 20th of July, and to be mustered into service, subsisted, clothed, mounted, and armed at Springfield, Missouri, by the United States government.

The regiment will be mustered into the service for three years or the war, and will be organized as prescribed by act of Congress, approved July 29, 1861, entitled "An act to increase the present military establishment of the United States," as follows:

[The form of organization, being substantially like that of other cavalry commands, is omitted.]

Lieutenant Colonel Mills, of the 24th Missouri volunteers, commanding at Springfield, Missouri, or other officer who may be placed in command at that place, will act as mustering officer, and will make the necessary requisitions for arms, accoutrements, horses, subsistence, medical stores, clothing, camp and garrison equipage, and all other supplies that may be required for the regiment, on the proper staff officers at St. Louis, Missouri, or other convenient place in the department of the Mississippi.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

L. THOMAS, Adjutant General.

M. LA RUE HARRISON, Esq., Springfield, Missouri.

Recruiting parties had already been sent into various parts of Arkansas, and squads of from six to thirty men were constantly arriving at Springfield and enlisting in the regiment. On the 20th of June a raid was made into Fayetteville, Arkansas, from Cassville, by a detachment of the 1st Missouri and 2d Wisconsin cavalry, under command of Major Hubbard, at which time 115 recruits were brought out, mostly from Washington county.

July 1, Captain Harrison, with about 200 recruits, left Cassville with the 37th Illinois infantry, and established his rendezvous at Springfield, Missouri. July 3, the authority for mustering having been received, four companies were mustered into the service, and on the 7th day of August a minimum regiment. On the 11th day of August Colonel Harrison was, by order of Brigadier General E. B. Brown, appointed chief engineer for the district of southwest Missouri. About the 1st of September the 1st battalion, under Major Johnson, was ordered to join the command of General Brown in the field, west of Mount Vernon, Missouri. It was engaged, September 15 and October 13, in the battles near Newtonia, Missouri, and during the campaign furnished most of the scouts, guides, and messengers for the army, besides being frequently engaged in skirmishes with the enemy's scouting and reconnoitring parties. On the 2d day of October, 1862, the regimental organization of twelve companies was completed.

On the 3d day of October the 2d battalion, having been mounted and armed, was sent to the southwest to join the Army of the Frontier, under General Schofield, and during that month it, with the 1st, constituted the advance of that army in its march through northwestern Arkansas. On the return of General Schofield, about the 20th of October, these battalions were stationed at Elkhorn Tavern and Cassville as outposts, and there remained until the next forward movement of that army. November 11, three companies of the 3d battalion, under command of Lieutenant Colonel Bishop, left Springfield and joined the regiment at Elkhorn Tavern, on Pea Ridge, which place was held by him as the extreme outpost south of the 2d and 3d divisions of the Army of the Frontier, until its second advance, which resulted in the battle of Prairie Grove.

On the 5th of December, in obedience to orders from General Herron, Colonel Harrison, who had been relieved from duty as chief engineer of the district of southwest Missouri, left Elkhorn with eight companies of the regiment and a train of twenty wagons, and moved forward to join General Blunt, then at Cane Hill, Arkansas. On the night of the 6th the detachment camped at Prairie Grove, ten miles southwest of Fayetteville. During the night orders were received from General Blunt for the detachment to move at daybreak and join General Solomon near Rhea's Mill. Messengers also brought information from General Blunt that the enemy were west of Cane Hill, and would probably attack him in the morning; that the road between himself and Colonel Harrison was clear.

At daylight on the morning of the 7th the detachment moved forward, but at sunrise was met by detachments of Missouri troops retreating, who had been attacked by Hindman's advance at their camp, two miles south of Illinois creek. A determined attack was made by the enemy at this point, and within half an hour a serious panic ensued, which resulted in the capture of the train of the 1st cavalry and the temporary demoralization of the regiment. Falling back to the Walnut Grove church, Colonel Harrison rallied his men upon the right of General Herron's army, which was met at that point, and advanced with it to Prairie Grove.

On the following day Colonel Harrison made a raid south to the Boston mountains, pursuing some of the routed detachments of Hindman's army, and capturing twenty-nine prisoners.

1863.—On the 8th of January a detachment, under command of Lieutenants Thompson and Vaughan, participated in the defeat of Marmaduke at Springfield, Missouri; Lieutenant Vaughan and Sergeant L. D. Jernigan were severely wounded during the engagement. About the 25th of January a detachment, commanded by Captain Galloway, participated in a raid into Van Buren, under command of Lieutenant Colonel Stuart, 10th Illinois cavalry, at which time a steamer and 315 prisoners were captured. On the 3d of February a detachment of eighty-three men, under Captain Galloway, routed 180 rebels near White Oak creek, in Franklin county, and on the following morning Captain R. E. Travis was mortally wounded in an attack upon a party of guerillas who had fortified themselves in a log-house near Thurlkill's ferry, on the Arkansas river.

On the 15th of April, at sunrise, the post of Fayetteville was attacked by the rebel General W. L. Cabell with a force of 1,200 men and two pieces of artillery. After four hours' severe fighting he was routed with serious loss. The defending force consisted of about 350 men of the 1st Arkansas cavalry and a portion of four companies of the 1st Arkansas infantry. The remainder of the 1st infantry and one company of the 1st cavalry were held in reserve. Neither artillery nor defensive works of any kind were used by the national troops. About this time, owing to the ordering of large numbers of troops from the department of Missouri to Vicksburg, most of the distant outposts were withdrawn, and, in obedience to orders from General Curtis, Fayetteville was abandoned on the 25th of April, and its garrison arrived in Springfield, Missouri, on the 4th of May. On the 9th of August Captain R. H. Wimpy, with two mountain howitzers and a detachment of the regiment, joined Colonel Catherwood, 6th cavalry, Missouri State militia, in a raid southwest across the Arkansas river, participating in the engagements at Pineville, Missouri, Backbone mountain, Arkansas, and in several skirmishes, marching over 500 miles.

In September Colonel Harrison attacked a detachment of rebels under Coffee, in the Seneca Nation, pursuing them down the Indian line to Round Prairie, Arkansas, and on the 22d of that month the 1st cavalry re-occupied Fayetteville. On the 4th of October a detachment of the regiment, 450 strong, with two sections of battery A, 1st Arkansas light artillery, and one section of mountain howitzers, under command of Colonel Harrison, left Fayetteville in pursuit of the rebel General Shelby, who at the time was moving north from Neosho, Missouri, with 2,000 men and two pieces of artillery. Marching through Pineville, Newtonia, Granby, Carthage, Lamar, and Greenfield towards Warsaw, countermarching orders turned the column towards Bowers's Mill, and thence by way of Mount Vernon and Cassville to Fayetteville to relieve the garrison at that place, which was being seriously threatened by a superior force under the rebel Colonel Brooks. At sunrise on the 15th of October a part of the detachment, while in camp at Cross Timbers, and having in charge a train of 25 wagons loaded with supplies for Fayetteville, was attacked by Brooks, but through the timely return of Colonel Harrison, who, having gone forward towards Fayetteville with a portion of his men, had heard the firing, the attack was repelled. On the 23d of October a portion of the regiment, with its howitzer battery, under command of Major Hunt, joined General McNeil at Huntsville, taking the advance in the pursuit of General Shelby across the Arkansas river.

On the 7th of November an expedition, 435 strong, under Colonel Harrison, left Fayetteville, moving eastward, and on the morning of the 9th routed a force of rebels near King's river; and again on the following day, at sunrise at Kingston, at noon on the Dry fork of King's river, and in the evening near Mulberry mountain. On the 11th and 12th Captain John I. Worthington drove the same irregular forces across the Arkansas river, carrying his howitzers by hand across the Frog Bayou mountain; and on the 23d and 25th engaged and routed bands of guerillas near Sugar Loaf mountain, in Marion county, and on Richland creek, in Searcy county—the last time with considerable loss. Lieutenant L. D. Jernigan was here severely wounded and taken prisoner.

1864.—During the months of January and February a detachment of the regiment, commanded by Captains Galloway and Botefführ, served in Carroll, Marion, and Searcy counties, under orders from Brigadier General C. B. Holland, from the district of southwest Missouri. They were engaged repeatedly with the enemy, and received high praise in General Holland's official report.

During this year detachments of the regiment were very frequently engaged with guerillas, who were still infesting northwestern Arkansas, and on the 28th of October a concerted attack upon Fayetteville was defeated. On the 3d of October the town was again attacked by a largely superior force, detached from General Price's army, then lying at Cane Hill, the whole under the command of Major General Fagan. The defending force consisted of about 800 of the 1st Arkansas cavalry and such home guards, citizens, and stragglers as could be brought together, the whole numbering 1,128 men. A fort and rifle-pits had been constructed, and the attack, though not pressed with all the vigor that was apprehended, was continued persistently through the day, several attempts to gain the fort and rifle-pits being gallantly repelled. On the following morning the army of General Curtis, then in pursuit of Price, arrived, and, re-enforced by the 1st cavalry, continued the pursuit to the Arkansas river. Here the great raid terminated, and with it active operations on this portion of the frontier.

All summer long the 1st cavalry had been actively employed against the enemy, who increased in strength until in the autumn they swarmed through the country; but Price's retreat and the approach of winter secured, for a time, comparative quiet.

1865.—During this year a relentless warfare was carried on against the small bands of guerillas who infested northwestern Arkansas, and many were killed. The news of the surrender of General E. Kirby Smith, then commanding the Trans-Mississippi department of the Confederate States, was not received in northwestern Arkansas until about the 1st of July, after which quiet was mainly restored; and on the 23d of August the 1st Arkansas cavalry was mustered out of the service. From May, 1863, until the disbanding of the regiment a cornet band was maintained at the private expense of the officers, and at the close of the war the instruments were presented to the city of Fayetteville.
