9. Mexico

There is a general feeling of insecurity in Mexico City following the extreme violence of 2 October. The capital is rife with rumors of revolution and military takeover, and the government expects a major act of sabotage before the opening of the Olympics on 12 October. The lack of confidence is reflected in substantial losses in the Bank of Mexico's net reserve position. Hospital interns have begun a work stoppage in support of the student strike, and members of the social security agency are planning to demonstrate their sympathy with the students.
