Yeah, I feel bad about it. But it shows you what sells and what stakeholders really care about. Hopefully, the trade-off is that you will be free to curate as you wish!

Thanks Ray. We're real gluttons for punishment, aren't we?

Michael and Corinne,

Here's everything I can think of so far:

- Life-size photo mural and lenticular mural research (sooner than later)
- Dial interactive content (text & images)
- Time line content (text & images)
- Animation of women's voting rights progress
- Touch screen interactive content (text & images)
- Ballet box interactive content
- Web landing page
- Voter registration station (in the Learning Lab)

I'm not counting rack cards, signage, or donor appreciation plaques because I'm assuming Corinne will move on to those elements after the script and that I will be designing them.
