“Working together to protect classified information and preserve our Nation’s economic and technological interests.”

The National Industrial Security Program (NISP) is a partnership between Government and industry designed to create a single, integrated, and cohesive industrial security program. Since its inception in 1993, the NISP has worked to achieve:

- An open dialogue between Government and industry.
- Promotion of awareness and uniformity in security procedures.
- A reduction in redundant and duplicative security reviews and audits.
- An increase in the reciprocal acceptance of clearances.
- A reduction of security costs.
