

National Archives Central Plains Region Exhibits

The Central Plains Region offers small, temporary exhibits in the lobby area. Exhibits use facsimile copies of original records held by the region in order to protect the original documents from harmful ultraviolet light. All of our exhibits are designed to educate visitors about the records we hold and how they may be of use to them. Exhibits are changed every two to three months and focus on a variety of topics. Call (816) 268-8071 for the exhibit schedule.

The Civil Rights/Civil Liberties exhibit examined several prominent court cases held in the National Archives - Central Plains Region.

About the National Archives:

The National Archives and Records Administration is America's national record-keeper, a public trust on which our democracy depends. The records we hold play a vital role in our democracy. These records and millions of others give shape to the ideals outlined in the Declaration of Independence, the foundations of democracy laid down in the Constitution, and the freedoms guaranteed to American citizens by the Bill of Rights. Not only do they document the actions of Government, making accountability possible, they document individual rights and entitlements. They tell the story of who we are as a people. They reveal the courage, determination, and spirit that have shaped our democracy throughout its history.

Fans of a popular television series based on

Deadwood, Dakota Territory, during the late 1800s will recognize the names of Seth Bullock, Calamity Jane, Wild Bill Hickok, Sol Star, and Al Swearingen. All of these "characters" were real people and make an appearance in federal records. Where does fact separate from fiction? What can we learn about their lives? In this exhibit the Central Plains Region explores "The Real Deadwood."

Records Relating to Deadwood and Dakota Territory at the Central Plains Region

Those interested in researching early Deadwood and Dakota Territory will find a smattering of records in the holdings of the Central Plains Region. Federal census records are available to be viewed on microfilm. Our self-service microfilm research room is staffed by volunteers and is open Monday – Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. No appointment is necessary.

Deadwood in 1876 by S.J. Morrow. Still Picture Records LICON, NWCS-S, National Archives at College Park, ARC ID 533172.

In addition early records may be found RG 21, Records of the U.S. District Courts. Some of these early court cases date back to the 1860s. In addition, we have some records of early naturalizations in Dakota Territory. If supplied with a name, staff can check a database index to see if the name appears in the records we have. In some cases, these early naturalization records consist only of entries into court docket books. Other possibly useful records may be found in RG 75, Bureau of Indian Affairs. Visit our website at: (http://www.archives.gov/facilities/mo/kansas_city.html) to get more information on our holdings. Original records may be viewed in the textual research room, Monday – Friday, 8 a.m. – 4 p.m. An appointment is highly recommended, so that an archivist may discuss your research topic with you and have the records you wish to see ready upon your arrival. Call (816) 268-8000.
