The National Archives of England, Wales and the United Kingdom has one of the largest archival collections in the world, spanning 1000 years of British history, from Domesday Book of 1086 to government papers recently released to the public.

The National Archives in New York City is hosting Monica Halpin, from the National Archives of England, for a genealogical information session. This program will include an online demonstration of various sites and search tips of the UK website, www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/a2a and other UK online resources. Directions are listed online at:
