There came young Barber aged about 68 years before me been in the said vessel a considerable time previous, that he understood, at the time from Capt. Middleton and others, that the orders received was to proceed down the Bay, and to be under the direction of Gen. La Fayette, that while the Dolphin lay in the Patuxent River Gen. La Fayette came on board in a Barge, it then blowing a gale of wind, that the Gen. observed to Capt. Middleton that he could not venture down the Bay with him while the two British Ships lay at the mouth of the Patuxent River, that he would go down in the Barge and that the Schooner would follow on as soon as he Capt. Middleton thought he could do so with safety, and that he Middleton would make the best of his way to Little York. That the Dolphin got under way that night it blowing very hard about North, next morning, then Commodore <sup>Pa.</sup> Bannan applied to Capt. Middleton ner was under the direction of Gen. La Fayette and could not go without the Gen's permission Capt. Middleton was then ordered by Gen.
