The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) requires Senior Agency Officials for Records Management (SAORM) to provide an annual report demonstrating how agencies are handling important records management initiatives as identified by NARA.

NARA uses the reports to determine the overall progress of the Federal Government in managing its records and the transition away from paper to digital formats and to identify best practices and model solutions within Federal agencies.

The reporting period begins on March 11, 2019 with reports due back to NARA no later than April 19, 2019.

NARA plans to post your 2018 SAORM report on the NARA website upon receipt. Please ensure that your agency’s report is a publicly releasable version. This action is in the interest of transparency in Government and to promote collaboration and communication among agencies. NARA intends to list any non-responding agencies in a summary report and on the website.

Instructions for Reporting

- This template covers progress through December 31, 2018.
- Please be brief and precise in your answers. Limit answers to each question to no more than 500 words.
- Please complete the questions/items below and send the report to rmselfassessment@nara.gov. Include the words “SAORM annual report - [Agency Name]” in the subject line of the email.
- If you are responsible for records management in multiple agencies, components, or bureaus, please determine how you will submit reports to NARA. While NARA prefers a comprehensive report, you may submit separate reports for each component.
Provide the following information (required):

- Name of SAORM: Jeremy P. Fisher
- Position title: Vice President & Chief Information Officer
- Address: 1101 Market Street, SP 3A
  Chattanooga, TN 37402

1. What agencies, bureaus, components, or offices are covered by this report and your position as SAORM and which will be reporting separately? Please also indicate any that are new or have been changed due to reorganization or other circumstances.

   Tennessee Valley Authority

2. Is your agency and its components making progress towards managing all permanent electronic records in electronic format by December 31, 2019? (M-12-18, Goal 1.1)

   X Yes
   □ No

   Please explain your response: TVA is in the process of completing the final migration in the implementation of our Enterprise Content Management system, utilizing OpenText’s Content Server solution.

3. Has your agency implemented a plan that aligns to the criteria and requirements published by NARA in its Criteria for Successfully Managing Permanent Electronic Records (March 2018)?

   X Yes
   □ No

   Please explain your response: Our staff is completing file plans that align to the Big Bucket Records Schedule and is conducting records assessments that ensure that we meet this requirement.

4. As included in the Administration’s Delivering Government Solutions in the 21st Century: Reform Plan and Reorganization Recommendations (June 2018), NARA will no longer accept paper records after December 31, 2022. Is your agency developing strategic plans, goals, objectives, and initiatives that will enable it to comply with this deadline?

   The Reform Plan states:
   Transition to Electronic Environment: Transition Federal agencies’ business processes and recordkeeping to a fully electronic environment, and end the National Archives and Records Administration’s acceptance of paper records by December 31, 2022. This would improve agencies’ efficiency, effectiveness, and responsiveness to citizens by converting paper-based processes to electronic workflows, expanding online services, and enhancing management of Government records, data, and information.

☐ Yes
☐ No

Please explain your response (include specific goals and example metrics): As we develop file plans with our business partners using the Big Bucket Records Schedule, we are making them aware of this requirement and ensuring that the appropriate records are stored in the Enterprise Content Management System.

5. Is your agency utilizing General Service Administration’s Schedule 36 to procure solutions to assist in transitioning to an Electronic Environment?

☐ Yes
☒ No

Please explain your response: We have purchased and are using OpenText’s Content Server solution to support this transition.

6. Have you, as the SAORM, established or improved your agency procedures that ensure all incoming and outgoing senior officials receive briefings on their records management responsibilities including documenting their public service, use of personal email, and other recordkeeping requirements?

☒ Yes
☐ Changes were unnecessary (click here for your agency’s 2017 report)
☐ No, changes are being considered but have not been made
☒ No

Please explain your response: I have assumed this position within the last quarter and have not yet modified our procedures to address these records management responsibilities. This will be an objective going forward.

7. Have you, as the SAORM, ensured that your records management program has the support and resources it needs to be successful? (See NARA Bulletin 2017-02: Guidance on Senior Agency Officials for Records Management)
Please explain your response: Funding for the completion of the OpenText Enterprise Content Management solution and funding for the ongoing support of this system has been included in our business plan. In addition, staffing for this function is also funded and included in our business plan.

8. Have you, as the SAORM, implemented an appropriate role-based records management training program that covers recordkeeping responsibilities for all staff including those with dedicated records management roles, Federal employees, contractors, senior executives and appointees? (See NARA Bulletin 2017-01: Agency Records Management Training Requirements)

Please explain your response: An “Introduction to Records Management” and a “Briefing for Managers” online training have been developed and is available in our Learning Management System prior to my assignment to this role. It has not yet been designated as required training.

9. Have you, as the SAORM, taken steps to direct and support Records Management staff in implementing an evaluation or auditing process to ensure records management directives, policies, procedures, and retention schedules are being properly implemented?

Please explain your response: I have assumed this position within the last quarter and have not yet addressed these processes. This will be an objective going forward.

10. Do you need support from NARA to ensure a successful transition to fully electronic recordkeeping?

Please explain your response: We appreciate and rely on the consulting and support we receive from NARA in response to inquiries that we occasionally make as we work with our internal business partners in this transition.
