Background Information

The Forest Service considers mineral exploration and development to be important parts of its management program. It cooperates with the Department of the Interior (USDI) in administering lawful exploration and development of leasable minerals. While the Forest Service is mainly involved with surface resource management and protection, it recognizes that mineral exploration and development are ordinarily in the public interest and can be compatible in the long term, if not immediately, with the purposes for which the National Forest System lands are managed. By exchange of letters in April and May 1945 with the Department of the Interior, the Forest Service reviews permit and lease applications and makes recommendations to protect surface resources and to prevent conflict with other activities, plans and programs of the Forest Service, and other users. Although not required by statute, the Secretary of the Interior generally accepts Forest Service recommendations regarding public domain leasable minerals.
