Specific responsibility is assigned to the Director of the Policy Analysis staff. FSM 1970 has three major sections dealing with different types of analyses of the plans, programs and projects conducted by the Forest Service: (1) Economic Efficiency Evaluation refers to cost studies and assessments of markets and the development of values (2) Economic Impact Analysis and (3) Social Impact Analysis refers to determinations made of the impact of programs and projects on the economy and society of a community or area. Economic and Social Analysis was previously a secondary designation under 1960 (1960-1 Economic and Social Impact Analysis).
