	promulgated regulations at 7 CFR Part 8 that govern such use
	The Agency has three ways of authorizing entities to use the 4-H Name and Emblem: (1) charters, (2) memoranda of understanding, and (3) authorization letters. Various rights are attached to each of these means of authorization. Charters are used to authorize entities that are the programmatic focus of the 4-H program, such as 4-H clubs or camps Charters are written by the National 4-H Headquarters. However, the states and counties track chartered entities and issue, renew, and revoke charters for 4-H clubs and camps within their state or county. Chartered entities are included in the 4-H tax-exempt status and must comply with national 4-H policies.
	Memoranda of understanding are used to recognize affiliated organizations, which perform work that the national, state, or county 4-H programs cannot, such as the National 4-H Council, 4-H foundations, and 4-H alumni associations. These organizations must comply with national 4-H policies, but cannot authorize others to use the 4-H name and emblem NOTE: Records related to developing memoranda of understanding are covered under a separate disposition authority entitled, Memoranda of Understanding. Authorization letters grant the use of the 4-H name and emblem to
