1	TECHNICAL SUPPORT OPERATIONS (124-5) (Applicable Air Force-Wide) The attached table 124-5 has been revised and rearranged to differentiate between the primary types of documentation accumulated in support of Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AF OSI) major investigative activities, i.e., substantive investigations, operations/collections/surveys, source documents, and support records. Changes to the current rules are preceded by a star. Upon reevaluation of disposition criteria for rules 1 and 2, it was determined that these documents would have a continuing value to the investigative efforts of AFOSI field extensions for 2 years and that HQ AFOSI should retain record copies for 5 years as backup for the AF OSI field extensions. The disposition for rules 7 and 8 is consistent with the destruction criteria assigned to the substantive case supported. The documentation has no value after the case file to which it refers has been destroyed. However, it is important that these case files be retained for at least 10 years as required by DOD Directive 5200.24. Because of the rapid and frequent changes in retention policy by DOD on electronic surveillance documentation, it is necessary for all cases to be reviewed at HQ AFOSI prior to destruction of even duplicate copies. This procedure will insure that USAF	T124-5 Rules 1 thru 14

Copy to Agency 4-30 76CK

keeps pace with DOD's requirements in this area.

Upon reevaluation of disposition criteria for rules 9 and 10, it was determined that these documents would have a continuing value to the investigative efforts of AFOSI field extensions 2 years and that HQ AFOSI should retain record copies for 6 years as backup for the AFOSI field extensions.

Rules 11 and 12 recommended dispositions are consistent with destruction criteria assigned to the substantive case supported. The documentation has no value after the related case file has been destroyed. Those administered at the request of other DOD and US Government Agencies would represent the master copy and would not be available other than at HQ AFOSI. AFOSI field extensions would retain a copy for 90 days after close of related investigation to process any inquiries relative to the performed services.

Duplicate copy (rule 14) is required to be retained at originating AFOSI field extension for 90 days to process inquiries relative to the performed service pending disposition of the matter under inquiry. Record copy at HQ AFOSI represents only AF file concerning involvement of subjects in major criminal, fraud or counterintelligence offenses or matters. Experience has demonstrated that disposition, adjudication or inquiry on such matters does not exceed 15 years. (rule 13) Frequent access to the record by HQ AFOSI is required usually for only 1 year following closing of the case.
