Background Information

The Automated Biometric Identification System (ABIS) matches and stores biometric data collected by global U.S. forces during the course of military operations. Data may also be collected for use in field identification and recovery of persons, or their physical remains, who have been captured, detained, missing, prisoners of war (POW), or personnel recovered from hostile control.

Records in the system pertain to military operations conducted by all Combatant Commands (COCOMs) across the globe. Individuals covered include members of the U.S. Armed Forces; Department of Defense (DoD) civilian and contractor personnel; military reserve, Army and Air National Guard personnel; and other individuals requesting access to U.S. installations and facilities.

ABIS information may be used to issue identity credentials to DoD personnel, administer military detainee operations, and provide reports on detainee operations to the Secretary of Defense.

ABIS interfaces and shares biometric data with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Integrated Automated Fingerprint Identification System (IAFIS), and also exchanges data with other federal authoritative biometric databases.

Records are primarily in electronic form, although paper records and reports are also generated. At present, the system holds approximately 10 million files constituting 30 terabytes of electronic records, dating from 2004 to present.
