Background Information

AR 73-1, Test And Evaluation Policy implements the policies and procedures of Department of Defense Directive (DODD) 5000.1, DODD 3200.11, and DOD Instruction (DODI) 5000.2, and the Defense Acquisition Guidebook and specifically prescribes implementing policies and assigns responsibilities for test and evaluation (T&E) activities during the systems acquisition processes. The proponent of this regulation is the Deputy Under Secretary of the Army.

U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command (ATEC) plans, integrates, and conducts experiments, developmental testing, independent operational testing, and independent evaluations and assessments to provide essential information to acquisition decision makers and commanders.

VISION embodies the DOD vision of a highly interconnected network of testing activities working cooperatively toward a common goal. This goal includes providing a single data stream on equipment, tactics and strategy from concept to combat, live customer participation, seamless integration of numerous distributed databases, and information on demand. VISION employs a Web based approach that combines a modular instrumentation suite and a digital library (VDLS) with modern communications technology.

ATEC has in place key elements to achieve automated acquisition, data fusion at the test site, the Army Test Incident Reporting System (ATIRS), large scale distributed database management techniques, cost estimating, and financial reporting. Data and reports are held for business needs, such as research, lessons learned, historical, and reporting purposes, FOIA and congressional inquiries on acquisition systems' past performance.

Inclusive dates are from 1998 to present.
