1	Background: In many cases Army payroll offices do not retain documents of employees separated or transferred which are required to balance retirement amounts and prepare the CSRS and FERS Annual Summary Retirement Transactions reports for OPM. An example of such documents are the SF 2806 and SF 3100 for employees who have separated or transferred. The Army has experienced difficulty in the reconstruction of retirement records in those cases where these documents are lost or destroyed. The lengthy delays resulting from the reconstruction of retirement records cause further delays in the adjudication of employee annuity payments and/or the processing of refunds of retirement deductions. This situation has worsened with the expansion of the Civil Service Retirement Plan in the early 1980's which now includes 22 different options. The recommended disposition change to a time/event with an increased retention period will assist the Army payroll offices in the balancing of retirement amounts and in the preparing of the CSRS/FERS Annual Retirement Transactions report for OPM.
