SECTION III – APPRAISER'S COMMENTS

The Department of the Army is requesting that a permanent retention period be established for the final research products and final research reports within its academic and institutional research files at the United States Military Academy. All other records within the series, the Army suggests, should be destroyed when no longer needed for current operations.

NARA should approve this job as the final research products and reports within this series have important technical research value. The remainder of the files are simply working and back-up papers unnecessary to maintain once current operational use has been exhausted.
