1b	CLIA Proficiency Testing Program Files The proficiency testing (PT) is a means of measuring a laboratory's performance by comparing it to the accuracy of tests performed by laboratories across the nation. PT involves sending sample specimens with known values to each laboratory 3 times per year to evaluate which laboratory results match the specimens known value. PT samples are provided by private non-profit organizations, Federal or State agencies. The CLIA Amendments of 1988 require the annual approval of each PT program. The specific standards applicable to the annual approval of each PT program are found in 42 CFR 493.901 through 493.959. The PT program files include the letters, documents, correspondence and participant summary reports necessary for the annual approval of each PT program.	Superseded by: DAA-0440-2015-0002-0001 DATE (MM/DD/YYYY): 9/20/2017
