Background Information
The Office of the Chief Security Officer (OCSO) shares a collaborative security program effort safeguarding the Department's people, information, and property so that the Department can secure the Homeland. OCSO will assist in creating a Department in which all employees are conscious of their security responsibilities and confident in their ability to safeguard the information and resources with which they are entrusted.

OCSO shares the responsibility for Communications Security (COMSEC), which is defined as the measures and controls taken to deny unauthorized individuals information derived from telecommunications and to ensure the authenticity of such telecommunications. COMSEC includes crypto security, transmission security, emission security, and physical security of COMSEC material.

Department of Homeland Security COMSEC policy is 4300B.200, Communications Security (COMSEC) version 1.0, July 23, 2013.

This schedule provides disposition authority for all records described regardless of format or medium.
