Employment Application Support System (EASS)

Employment Application Support System (EASS) is a system that provides the U S Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Personnel Security Unit (PSU) offices with a direct and secure link to the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) This link is used to perform a criminal history check based on fingerprint identification for ICE applicants (Fingerprint card SF 87) and contract employees (Fingerprint card FD-258) who are undergoing the security screening process The system consists of a server and workstation at each office that maintain all workflow for the local office The server maintains the workflow for the system, submits the cases to the FBI, receives responses back from the FBI, and provides temporary storage of case data while the case is waiting for a response from the FBI

Most cases receive a response back from the FBI within a timeframe of 24 hours The operator who entered the case will have to retrieve the response from the system, print a hardcopy, and scan it into the Security Activities Reporting System (SARS) The original fingerprint card and printed copy of the FBI response for the case are filed in the individual's Personnel Security Clearance File
