Background Information:
The Justice for United States Victims of State Sponsored Terrorism Act (the "Act") was enacted into law as Title IV, Division O, section 404 of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2016, Pub. L 114-113, codified at 42 U.S.C. § 10609 (2015). The Act requires the Special Master, appointed by the Attorney General, to provide compensation to certain eligible victims of state sponsored terrorism. The Special Master, with the assistance of the Criminal Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, administers the U.S. Victims of State Sponsored Terrorism Fund (the "Fund").

The Act provides that a claim is eligible if the Special Master determines that a claimant is (1) a U.S. person, as defined in 42 U.S.C. 10609(j)(8), with a final judgment issued by a U.S. district court under state or federal law against a state sponsor of terrorism and arising from an act of international terrorism, for which the foreign state was found not immune under provisions of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, codified at 28 U.S.C. 1605A or 1605(a) (7) (as such section was in effect on January 27, 2008); (2) a U.S. person, as defined in 42 U.S.C. 10609(j)(8), who was taken and held hostage from the United States Embassy in Tehran, Iran, during the period beginning November 4, 1979, and ending January 20, 1981, or the spouse and child of that U.S. person at that time, and who is also identified as a member of the proposed class in case number 1:00-CV-03110 (EGS) of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia; or (3) the personal representative of a deceased individual in either of those two categories.

Congress appropriated $1.025 billion dollars to the Fund. The Act requires certain forfeited criminal and civil funds and property be deposited or transferred into the Fund. Amounts in the Fund may not be obligated on or after January 2, 2026.
