DAYTON HISTORY PROJECT ARCHIVES (1995-1997)

The Dayton History Project was an inter-office, State Department effort to document the U.S. initiatives which led to the signing of the Dayton Peace Accords in Paris, France, in December 1995. The archive is composed principally of State Department documents reproduced from office files or databases, and is divided into the series described below. A draft Finding Aid to the Project Archives, prepared in May 1997, provides details on the project history and content of the archives.

The collection also includes files related to the Dayton History Seminar held at the National Foreign Affairs Training Center on June 24, 1996. The seminar brought together the members of the negotiating team, many of the US delegates at Dayton, and others, to reconstruct the events of August through November 1995. Video and audiotapes, as well as written transcripts, of this event, are included in the project archive.
