A. Original Manuscript Drawings

1. Original hand drawings from field observations and measurements under precise controls, usually on heavy paper (pre-1930) or paper mounted on metal boards (ca. 1930-55), often small in size or hinged and foldable to be easily carried in the field. These contain unique data of original compilation, part of which may not appear on the published map, and they document the historical state of the arts of surveying and mapmaking before recent times.
