New Series
Systems

System Series: Accounting Reconciliation Tool (ART)

System Description:

In Cobell v. Norton, 226 F. Supp. 2d 1, 148 (D.D.C. 2002), the United States District Court for the District of Columbia (Court) directed the Department of the Interior (DOI) to conduct a historical accounting for about 260,000 Individual Indian Monies (IIM) accounts. In July 2001, DOI established the Office of Historical Trust Accounting to support this task. The Accounting Reconciliation Tool (ART) is the information technology system used to facilitate the historical accounting of IIM and tribal accounts. Historical data are based on data received from the Trust Fund Accounting System (TFAS) managed by DOI's Office of Special Trustee, the predecessor Integrated Records Management System (IRMS), and other Bureau of Indian Affairs Real Property Systems. ART is a closed system containing private and confidential trust data on individual Indian and tribal accounts utilized to facilitate the reconciliation of selected trust accounts and/or transactions against supporting records. There is no public access to the ART data. ART operates out of OHTA's office in Washington, DC, and connects through a private network to professional accounting firms located in Albuquerque, NM, Los Angeles, CA, and at OHTA's facility within the American Indian Records Repository (AIRR) in Lenexa, KS. In addition to IIM accounts, ART includes a module for the reconciliation of tribal accounts. Information in ART includes beneficiary name and address, transaction history, investments, receipts, disbursements and imaged records necessary to reconcile account transactions through fiscal year 2000. The system is also used for statistical sampling to verify account accuracy and to support quality control audits of reconciled transactions.

The operating system is Microsoft Server 2003, the database is Microsoft SQL Server 2000. ART has a full backup on a weekly basis with incremental daily backups.

The records represent trust transactions and refer to ownership, transaction type, basis, and amount. Also, OST's Box Index Search System (BISS) is included in ART to assist in the identification of relevant records stored in the AIRR that are needed for the accounting reconciliation process.

Disposition Instructions: PERMANENT. Apply disposition instructions approved for paper, microfilm and electronic records in NARA Job Nos. N1-075-04-7 and N1-075-06-2.
