Background:
The Department of the Treasury's Office of Inspector General (OIG) was established in 1989 by the Secretary in accordance with the Inspector General Act Amendments of 1998. The OIG is headed by an Inspector General who is appointed by the President of the United States with the advice and consent of the United States Senate. The Inspector General reports to the Secretary of the Treasury through the Deputy Secretary and provides the Secretary with independent and objective reviews of the department's operations. The Inspector General is required to keep both the Secretary and the Congress fully and currently informed about the problems and deficiencies relating to the administration of department programs and operations and the necessity for corrective action. Serving with the Inspector General in the Immediate Office is a Deputy Inspector General. During FY 2004, the OIG has an authorized budget of $13,000,000 and a staff of 100 full-time civil servants.
Description:
entelliTrak Correspondence Management-Office of Management Tracking System is a web-based system that provides a range of features including a complete set of data elements and on-screen formatting recommended for case management, a platform independent architecture (including Windows and UNIX), broad database compatibility, including Oracle and MS SQL Server, browser-based (MS internet Explorer, Netscape) access requiring no software to be install on the users’ desktop, and low system maintenance requirements.

The system facilitates the manageability and efficiency of casework handled by the Office of Counsel. The system tracks case assignments from receipt to completion, provides valuable information to OIG staff working in the Office of Counsel, internal reports, and improve customer service.

Inputs:
