¹ This SF-115 will be reviewed again in 5 years or 2001 to determine whether legal custody of these records can be transferred from IRS to NARA. In addition, since these records included taxpayer information which was intermingled throughout the entire collection, NARA advised IRS not to remove individual documents, thus, the entire collection is restricted

² Some of these records also contained entire files dealing with individual taxpayers. These files were removed, i.e., subject files. A listing of the files removed and restricted will be retained by IRS. The listing will include the carton each file was removed from and the accession number. Thus, in the event the impasse over 6103 is resolved, the restricted files can be reassociated
