1	Located at the National Personnel Records Center (Civilian), St. Louis, Missouri, are GAO Disbursing Officers' Settlement Accounts relating to the pay of enrollees, project workers, and beneficiaries of the following public works agencies created during the Great Depression: the Civilian Conservation Corps and its predecessor, Emergency Conservation Work; the Work Projects Administration, originally named the Works Progress Administration, and its predecessors, the Civil Works Administration and the Federal Emergency Relief Administration; and the National Youth Administration. The accounts for these agencies cover the time period of 1933 thru 1944 and their approximate total volume is 10,000 cu. ft. They are intermixed with accounts for other civilian and military agencies, which are currently being screened to remove other records. In connection with this screening, the following change is proposed in the 56 year retention period that normally governs the disposition of such settlement accounts. a. Original pay vouchers for enrollees, project workers, and beneficiaries of the agencies listed above. Destroy immediately upon approval of this schedule. NOTE: This disposition authority is not applicable to pay vouchers for regular civil service employees who comprised the administrative core of these agencies. These vouchers
