Disposition Authority Number      DAA-0237-2019-0012-0002

The Whistleblower protection program provides protection to employees of air carriers, their contractors and subcontractors, from retaliation, discharge or discriminated for providing information relating to any violation of any order, regulation, or standard of the Federal Aviation Administration or other Federal law relating to air carrier safety. There are two ways to file a Whistleblower complaint either by the electronic notification form, which can be located on the FAA website or by mail. WBPP records and information collected and maintained in this system are used to document and process allegations of violations of any order, regulation, or standard of the Federal Aviation Administration or any other Federal law relating to air carrier safety; monitor and track case assignments, disposition, status, and investigative results; and create and report statistical information. Upon receipt of the complaint by mail, an authorized WBPP analyst manually enters the information into the WBPP database. The complaint should include but not limited to: Name, address, and telephone number, Individual's understanding of the specific order, regulation, or standard of FAA, that they believe has been violated, the name and location of the company which discharged or otherwise discriminated against the individual; their status as an air carrier, air carrier contractor or subcontractor the date individual became aware of the discrimination, the specific issue reported to the company or to the FAA, specific details relating to the safety issue such as people involved, aircraft tail numbers, date and times of the event(s), witness list, sufficient details to allow the FAA inspectors to prove a violation of a regulation, order, or standard.
