This disposition request covers records relating generally to the loyalty of Filipino nationals during the Japanese occupation of the Philippine Islands during World War II. Most of the records were created or collected by Army investigative or intelligence units after the War. Custody of these records were transferred to the Veterans Administration (VA). The VA uses the records in adjudicating claims made generally by Filipinos for veterans benefits, and, in connection with this, has also created various files and detailed indexes. The records are currently located at the Manila Regional Office and in two accessions at the Washington National Records Center (WNRC).

The records have long-term value to VA in determining veterans entitlements and in protecting the rights of Filipinos who served in the American cause during the War, and thus warrant retention by VA until such time as all applicable benefit programs and reference value ends. An

	approximate termination date would be the year 2026. The records also possess significant historical value in that they document in detail events, activities, and movements in the Philippine Islands during and immediately after World War II. They will be offered, therefore, to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) in the year 2026 after their value to VA has ceased and the problem of researcher access has ended. Because of their importance to the study of Philippine history, at some future date, copies of the records should be made available to an appropriate Philippine historical organization. This disposition request provides with two exceptions for the conversion of these important records to microfilm, followed by the destruction of the hardcopy. Microfilming is recommended because of the volume of the records and the problem this is causing at the Manila Regional Office. It will also facilitate reference by eliminating the necessity of referring requests for information to WNRC. Another significant factor is that some of the records, especially those on rice paper, must be microfilmed if they are to be preserved for future use. VA certifies that the records covered by this request will be microfilmed in accordance with the standards set forth in 41 CFR 101-11.506 and stored in accordance with 101-11.507 and 101-11.508. The first inspection of the microfilm, as required by 101-11.507-2, will take place two years after microfilming has been completed. 1. Loyalty Files, ca. 1935-50, approximately 258 cubic feet, located in WNRC accession 67-A-4806.
