Records Control Schedule for CIO.gov

<http://www.cio.gov> is the website of the U.S. CIO and Federal CIO Council, serving as a central resource for information on Federal IT. By showcasing examples of innovation, identifying best practices, and providing a forum for Federal IT leaders, cio.gov keeps the public informed about how our Government is working to close the technology gap between the private and public sectors. The U.S. CIO supports the President's goals of greater transparency, accountability and public participation in Government through the use of innovative IT.

This schedule does not apply to internal Office of Electronic Government, U.S. CIO or OMB websites that are inaccessible to the public.

Any new web content that deviates significantly from these categories and that is not duplicated elsewhere in the agency is not authorized for destruction and must be scheduled via a new records schedule.

1 Substantive Public website content (www.cio.gov)

Substantive content on cio.gov includes priorities of the U.S. CIO and CIO Council, blogs and other social media content hosted on cio.gov, significant projects or initiatives, videos and presentations that document the substantive work of the U.S. Chief Information Officer, the Office of Electronic Government within the Office of Management and Budget, and the U.S. CIO Council, its Committees and membership.

Priorities currently include Open, Transparent and Participatory Government, Policy Compliance, Infrastructure, Efficiency, Security and Privacy, and Effectiveness.

CIO Council. As the principal interagency forum on Federal IT, the CIO Council's vision is to improve how Government information resources are managed by increasing efficiency and cutting costs. The CIO Council committees share experiences, ideas, best practices, and innovative approaches to develop policy recommendations for the Office of Management and Budget. Substantive materials include information detailing the mission, vision, leadership and major accomplishments of the CIO Council, high level staff biographies, and Committee records.

Disposition: PERMANENT Transfer immediately upon approval of this schedule. Data transfers to NARA will occur annually in accordance with current NARA procedures, guidance and regulations.

2 Substantive Public Website Databases or other Electronic Systems

Includes 'back-end' databases, document, or content management electronic systems that manage content on cio.gov and respond to user searches. Examples include the Knowledge Base, listed under the CIO Council tab.

Disposition: PERMANENT Transfer immediately upon approval of this schedule. Data transfers to NARA will occur annually in accordance with current NARA procedures, guidance and regulations.
