These records shall be retained at each establishment to which they relate, for the period, or remainder thereof, required under § 1904.8.

§ 1904.12 Definitions.

(a) "Act" means the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 550 et seq. 29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.).

This category also includes any diagnosed occupational illnesses which are reported to the employer but are not classified as fatalities or lost workday cases.

(d) "Medical treatment" includes treatment administered by a physician or by registered professional personnel under the standing orders of a physician. Medical treatment does not include first aid treatment even though provided by a physician or registered professional personnel.

(e) "First Aid" is any one-time treatment, and any followup visit for the purpose of observation, of minor scratches, cuts, burns, splinters, and so forth, which do not ordinarily require medical care. Such one-time treatment, and followup visits for the purpose of observation, is considered first aid even though provided by a physician or registered professional personnel.

(f) "Lost workdays": The number of days (consecutive or not) after, but not including, the day of injury or illness during which the employee would have worked but could not do so, that, could not perform all or any part of his normal assignment during all or any part of the workday or shift, because of the occupational injury or illness.

(g) (1) "Establishment": A single physical location where business is conducted or where services or industrial operations are performed. (Example: A factory, mill, store, hospital, restaurant, movie theater, farm, ranch, bank, warehouse, or central administrative office. (2) For firms engaged in activities such as agriculture, construction, transportation, communications, electric, gas and sanitary service, which are physically dispersed, records may be maintained at a central clearinghouse where employees report each day they work. (3) Records for personnel who are not primarily report or work at a single establishment, and who are not fundamentally supervised in their work, such as traveling salesmen, nicians, engineers, etc., shall be maintained at the location from which they are paid or from which they operate to carry out their activities.

In establishments with diversified activities, the activity which accounts for the largest share of production, sales or revenue will identify the primary activity. In some instances these criteria will not adequately represent the relative economic importance of each of the varied activities. In such cases, employment or payroll should be used in place of the normal basis for determining the primary activity.

Introduction

This booklet summarizes Federal accident reporting and recordkeeping requirements of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) for the use of agency managers, supervisors, safety and health committees and union representatives. It addresses provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (PL 91-596), Executive Order 12196, Occupational Safety and Health Programs for Federal Employees, and 29 CFR Part 1960, Basic Program Elements for Federal Employee Occupational Safety and Health Programs.

It should be noted that a significant change occurred in 1984 when the Occupational Safety and Health Administration adopted the use of Federal Employees Compensation Act (FECA) data from the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs (OWCP) in lieu of information from agency-prepared OSHA 102F statistics. This change provided OSHA with a comprehensive and universal injury/illness data system without imposing an administrative burden on Federal agencies. OSHA will use the OWCP data (supplemented by the more detailed requirements described herein) to monitor the status of occupational safety and health at the Federal-wide agency and establishment levels.

It is emphasized that the requirements and definitions noted in this booklet apply strictly to OSHA recordkeeping and reporting and in no way infringe upon nor interfere with the filing of injury and illness reports under the Federal Employees Compensation Act.

The recordkeeping and reporting provisions described in this booklet cover statutory and regulatory OSHA requirements. Agencies should augment these minimal requirements in order to facilitate accident prevention consistent with their missions, organizations, and operational complexities.

I. Definitions

As used in this booklet, the following definitions apply for OSHA reporting.

- Establishment — a single physical location where business is conducted or where services or operations are performed. Where distinctly separate activities are performed at a single physical location, each activity shall be treated as a separate “establishment.” Typically, an “establishment” refers to a field activity, regional office, area office, installation or facility.

- Injury (Traumatic) — a wound or other condition of the body caused by external force, including stress or strain. The injury is identifiable as to time and place of occurrence and member or function of the body affected, and is caused by a specific event or incident or series of events or incidents within a single day or work shift.

- Illness/Disease (Occupational) — a physiological harm or loss of capacity produced by systemic infection, continued or repeated stress or strain, exposure to toxins, poisons, fumes, etc., or other continued and repeated exposures to conditions of the work environment over a long period of time. For practical purposes, an occupational illness/disease is any reported condition which does not meet the definition of injury (traumatic) above.

- Fatality — death resulting from either injury (traumatic) or illness/disease (occupational).

- Lost Time Case — a nonfatal injury (traumatic) that causes disability for work beyond the day or shift on which it occurred, or a nonfatal illness/disease (occupational) that causes disability at any time.

- No Lost Time Case — a nonfatal injury (traumatic) or illness/disease (occupational) that does not meet the definition of Lost Time Case.

- Catastrophe — an accident resulting in five or more agency and/or nonagency people being hospitalized for inpatient care.
II. Management Information Systems (MIS) (EO 12196 and 29 CFR 1960.66(c))

Agencies are to operate occupational safety and health management information systems to

- Help identify unsafe and unhealthful working conditions
- Establish program priorities
- Provide for the maintenance of records required by OSHA

Accident investigation, analysis and documentation of facts, causal and contributing factors and designation of preventive and corrective measures are the keystones of an effective MIS. Likewise, the dissemination of appropriate information to management, supervisors, employee representatives and employees helps to ensure the prevention of similar accidents.

III. Log of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses (1960.67, .69, and .71)

Each establishment is required to maintain a log of occupational injuries and illnesses. The log provides a quick and current view of workplace safety and health throughout the establishment.

The format shown in Appendix A is to be used for the log. As a minimum, all injuries, illnesses and fatalities for which a CA-1, 2 or 6 is filed with the establishment shall be entered in the log within six working days of receipt. Compensation claims controverted or otherwise challenged by the agency shall be logged but may be omitted from agency statistical tabulations and rates pending OWCP adjudication of the legitimacy of the claims. If a claim results in a scheduled award it shall be logged as a lost time case.

Employee notices of injury (CA-1) submitted by employees to document an incident or exposure and which are retained at the establishment since there is no current lost time or medical reimbursement required may be recorded in the appropriate columns of the log. Likewise, injury and illness/disease claims which result in permanent transfer to another position, termination of employment or subsequent granting of Continuation of Pay (COP) shall be recorded on the log as lost time cases.

A summary of the log or the entire log minus the names of the injured shall be posted in the establishment within 45 days of the end of the fiscal year. The material shall remain posted for 30 days.

Development and/or maintenance of logs at area or regional levels is permitted if provisions are made for at least semiannually, as a minimum, feedback of data to each establishment for local management, employee representatives and employee access.

IV. Supplemental Records (1960.68)

An injury or illness resulting in a fatality or a lost time case, including termination and permanent transfers, warrants investigation, analysis and documentation beyond the log. This supplemental record shall fully identify the personnel, equipment and activities involved as well as the causes and contributing factors of the accident. OSHA Form 101 (Appendix C), OWCP Forms CA 1, 2 and 6, or equivalent agency forms, shall be used for supplemental records.

This record shall be completed within six working days after receipt of information that the accident has occurred.

Note: Privacy Act restrictions applicable to OWCP records shall be maintained for OWCP forms and data when they are used in relation to accident prevention.
V. Fatality and Catastrophe Notification
(1960.70)

Agencies must notify OSHA within 48 hours of the occurrence of each occupational accident resulting in fatal injury or inpatient care hospitalization of five or more people, agency and nonagency people included. Notifications can be made telephonically or telegraphically to national, regional or area offices of OSHA. For the national office the point of contact is the Office of Federal Agency Programs (OFAP). The business hour telephone number is (FTS) 523-6021 (Area Code 202). Note: Deaths occurring within six months of an occupational accident shall be reported to OSHA within 48 hours.

Agency notifications to OSHA shall include:

- Names of individuals involved
- Number of fatalities and/or injuries and illnesses and the extent of any injuries
- Circumstances of the accident, i.e., establishment name, time, date, location, type of accident, and kind of operation conducted at the accident site
- Actions taken by the agency, i.e., to investigate the accident and whether OSHA assistance is desired

Agencies shall provide OFAP with a summary report of each fatality and catastrophic accident investigation. The summaries should address date/time of accident, agency/establishment name and location, personnel categories (employee, public, etc.) and consequences, description of operation and the accident, causal factors, applicable standards and their effectiveness and proposed agency corrective/preventive actions.

VI. Agency Annual Report
(1960.74)

By January 1st of each year, agencies shall submit to the Secretary of Labor a report describing the previous fiscal year’s occupational safety and health program. The report provides an executive summary of the status of the agency’s occupational safety and health program, problems encountered, and plans and programs for improving the program. Guidelines for the report are provided in Appendix B.

VII. Access to and Retention of Records and Reports
(1960.71 and .73)

Agencies shall publicize the availability of and provide access to establishment logs, supplemental records, and fatal/catastrophic summaries. Access to these documents shall be provided to establishment/agency safety and health personnel, establishment occupational safety and health committees, employees, employee representatives, and former employees with a need to know, and to the Secretary of Labor, Secretary of Health and Human Services, and their authorized representatives.

Records and reports shall be maintained by the agency for five years following the end of the fiscal year to which they relate.
