	SUBSTATION MAINTENANCE RECORDS The Substation and Line Section of the Technical Support Branch of Power System Operations maintains the record copy of all maintenance and test records on major equipment, including factory test and name plate data. These records are used to determine required maintenance intervals, spare parts stocking levels; and to establish a performance history on each specific piece of equipment. Every five years the accumulated file is microfilmed in accordance with standards set forth in 36 CFR Part 1230. Two silver originals and one diazo copy are made. The silver originals are stored in separate locations for security purposes. The diazo copy is maintained by the Substation and Line Section. The index for the records is on a data file. Duplicate paper copies of substation maintenance records are retained as working copies in area offices where the equipment is located. When the equipment is retired or transferred to another location, working files are destroyed or sent to the new location if requested. DISPOSITION 1. Paper Copy (a) Record - Destroy when acceptable microfilm is obtained.
