1 DISPATCHER LOGGER TAPES

Dispatcher official telephone communications are recorded on magnetic tapes. These tapes, sometimes referred to as "logger tapes," are official records of the dispatcher's recorded conversations, actions taken, procedures, and acknowledgments. These tapes also may document system trouble, accidents, and other unusual conditions. Dispatcher recordings are used for historical documentation, as a reference for work activities, or because of legal responsibilities relating to the power system.

In 1996, the functions of TVA's five Area Dispatch Control Centers (ADCCs) were consolidated with the functions of the TVA Power Business Center at the Chattanooga Office Complex.
