1. CENTRAL FILE OF THE OFFICE OF THE GENERAL COUNSEL

The Office of the General Counsel's (OGC) central file contains program records (related to the mission and responsibility of the office) and administrative records (related to the operation of the office). The file consists of materials dated 1933 and continuing, which are classified to a decimal system. Prior to 1991, the file had accumulated continuously and very little disposition had been applied, even to the short-term administrative records.

In 1990-91, records in all permanent classification codes, except litigation, dated 1933 through 1981 were inventoried and boxed in numerical order by file classification code. The litigation records were inventoried and boxed for the period 1933 through 1961, and the records dated 1962 through 1981 will be inventoried and boxed before the segment is to be transferred to the National Archives in CY 2011. The OGC litigation records will be selected for permanent retention if the litigation affected current agency policy or forced new policy and/or the litigation affected TVA's mission. In the future, OGC will file break (group files) the permanent classification codes by 10-year periods to facilitate continuous transfer of records to the National Archives. Transfers are scheduled to take place 30 years after each file break.

The records dated 1933-81 in the permanent classification codes were reviewed by OGC attorneys to determine if any Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) restrictions should be recommended to the National Archives. FOIA restrictions identified by the attorneys will be noted on the transferring papers (SF 258) at the time of transfer to NARA. A list of any recommended FOIA restrictions will also be made part of NARA's dossier for job number N1-142-85-13.

The approximate volume of the entire central file as of 1990 was 6,750 cubic feet. This total includes 4,250 cubic feet in the Knoxville Records Center and 2,500 cubic feet in the OGC central file room. The estimated annual accumulation of the entire OGC file is 120 cubic feet of which 21 cubic feet consists of permanent records.

The approximate volume of permanent records dated 1933-81 is 1,000 cubic feet, including 300 cubic feet in the proper name file classification code 095, but excluding the permanent litigation records dated 1962-81. The proper name file consists mainly of cross index sheets which were used to identify documents prior to the computerized index system. The 095 cross index sheets are being evaluated for microfilming alphabetically on roll film prior to transfer to NARA in CY 2011. If they are microfilmed, the microfilming will be done in accordance with the standards set forth in 36 CFR Part 1230.

For retrieval purposes, a decimal classification system is used to organize all records. In addition, a controlled vocabulary is used to apply index terms to individual documents of research value. A computerized index, which replaced the cross index sheets, was installed in 1983 using INQUIRE software linked to the Chattanooga mainframe computer. All documents of research value, dated August 1983 and continuing, are routinely indexed and entered into the computerized index. In addition, selected pre-1983 documents of research value have been included. A document control number is assigned to each record entered into the computerized index.

b. 10-year segments dated 1982 and continuing

For permanent records dated 1982 and continuing, break the files every 10 years. Transfer in 10-year blocks, when reference activity permits, to either the FRC or TVA Knoxville Records Center. Transfer all records in each 10-year segment to the FRC no later than 25 years after the file break. Transfer in 10-year blocks to the National Archives when the newest records in the block are 30 years old (first transfer of records dated 1982-1991 will be in CY 2021).
