9	UI-SI uncollectible refund cases. Destroy 10 years, 3 months after period of account for those records created prior to July 1, 1975. Destroy 6 years, 3 months after the period of the account for those records created after June 30, 1975. REMARKS Item 1C. A claim folder is established for each claimant whose claims are processed manually or for whom correspondence or a tape printout is to be saved. Item 1D. The computer tape and microfilm record history file contains updated master records, for closed benefit years, that are no longer active or potentially active. The active master file is purged to produce a new history file. The retention period for the tape and microfilm files is the same as for the punch-card documents and microfilm files described in item 1(b). Item 1E. BUSI previews contain the information on a benefit year master tape record before some information is purged to provide more space on the record. Item 4. Ledger type records which show daily and monthly posting media for type and amount of benefits paid; type and gross amount of payments certified for payment; type and amount of benefits determined recoverable; and type and amount of benefits recovered. The daily activity is entered on RRB Form UI-47a, Certification Transactions. A monthly summary of transactions is prepared on RRB Form UI-47b, Summary of Transactions. RRB Form UI-47f, Manual Accounts Receivable Transactions, reflects monthly recoverable and recovery activity for benefits recovered by return and cancellation of benefit checks, and monthly recoverable and recovery activity by transfer to funds from the Railroad Retirement Account. Beginning March 1978, a computer-prepared monthly summary of transactions takes the place of the manually prepared RRB Form UI-47b. Item 6. These records show how many claims were taken by the unemployment claims agents of each employer and the amount paid to each employer as reimbursement for taking those claims. These records are used to answer inquiries	GRS6-1

	about payments made for taking claims. The original (record copy) of this report goes to the bureau of budget and fiscal operations and is disposed of in accordance with RRB schedule 8, item 1(b). A carbon copy is retained in the bureau of unemployment and sickness insurance. Item 7. The daily listing and summary reports of accounts receivable transactions is a computer printout. The listing shows each set-up and each updating action of an adjustment record. The summary reports, daily and monthly-to-date, are compilations of the daily adjustment transaction activity. The certification and recoverables unit copy is used for other action taken by the unit. This complete copy is available for detailed examination by the bureau of budget and fiscal operations, and is the copy to be site audited by GAO. A copy of the listing with the daily summary is used by the division of claims operations as register of recoverable amounts set up. The month-to-date summary report for the last business day of the month is used by the bureau of budget and fiscal operations as posting media to the Board's general accounts. Item 8. Accounts receivable master and transactions tape records of cases which have been fully recovered and then purged to history files at least one year after recovery. Item 9. Any claim in which an overpayment exists is not considered closed until full recovery is effected.
