The Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations (ACIR) was established by Congress in 1959 to monitor the operation of the American federal system and to recommend improvements. ACIR is a permanent, national, bipartisan body representing the executive and legislative branches of Federal, state, and local government and the public. The Commission addresses specific issues and problems, the resolution of which would produce improved cooperation among the levels of government and more effective functioning of the federal system. ACIR studies critical government finance issues, in addition to dealing with important functional and policy relationships. After selecting issues for investigation, ACIR provides an opportunity for review and comment from representative points of view. The Commission debates each issue and formulates a policy position. ACIR publishes findings and recommendations and develops draft legislative bills and executive orders to implement the Commission's policy recommendations.
