Transfer to the National Archives 2 years after file break when first inspection is completed. Retain up to two diazo copies for office use. Destroy non-record Agency microform copies when no longer needed.

If record copy is not microformed, keep in the office up to one year after file break, then retire to FRC along with finding aids and indexes. Transfer to the National Archives 20 years after file break. Destroy Agency non-record reference copies when no longer needed.

- b. If record copy is in microform, destroy paper copy after quality assurance check.
- c. Delete when record copy is generated.

APPLICATION GUIDANCE:

REASONS FOR DISPOSITION: Records form part of the core documentation of the Agency's work in determining the potential toxicity of chemicals produced by the regulated community and are necessary for adequate and proper documentation of the test data received, exemptions from test rule applications, modifications, and amendments required under this section of the law.

AGENCY-WIDE GUIDANCE: The offices of record for files governed by this schedule are Confidential Business Information Center (CBIC), Non-confidential Information Center (NCIC), and Chemical Testing and Information Branch (CTIB).

EPA SERIES NO. 262

The NCIC is responsible for implementing the disposition and ensuring that a permanent record is maintained. However, the program office (CTIB) is responsible for the maintenance and disposition of sensitive information not included in the NCIC files. The related Rulemaking Dockets maintained by NCIC/CBIC should be retired under EPA 149 - Regulations, Standards, and Guidelines and EPA 150 - Rulemaking Dockets.

As required by 36 CFR 1228.58, records with special restrictions such as confidential business information (CBI) or those exempted from disclosure by statute such as the Privacy Act, must be shredded or otherwise definitively destroyed with witnessed disposal for records destroyed by contractors.

Microform copies are to be produced in accordance with 36 CFR 1230.10 and 1230.20. If records are not filmed, use disposition a for paper records.

PROGRAM OFFICE GUIDANCE/DESCRIPTIVE INFORMATION: The records covered under this schedule are maintained by the NCIC, CBIC and the program office (CTIB). Records located in the Non-confidential Business Information Center are part of the basic documentation resulting from a test rule or consent order. To ensure the completeness of the record and for implementing disposition as a permanent record, the program office is responsible for retaining documents - such as study and protocol internal reviews - not included in the file maintained by NCIC.

The Confidential Business Information Center maintains the CBI version of any document submitted or created in response to any subsection of Section 4 of the TSCA law. Various types of Section 4 related documents are included in this collection. However, these records consist mainly of requests for Exemptions from Test Rule Applications. All documents regardless of type are maintained by document identification number.

Other related schedules are:

- EPA 149 - Regulations, Standards, and Guidelines
- EPA 150 - Rulemaking Dockets

EPA 149 and 150 can be used to disposition records which document the development of the test rule or the consent order.

At close out of file, all records held by offices should be retired at the same time. However, the program office may retain a closed file should it be determined that it would be needed for additional information or continuity regarding a related matter. All reference copies can be destroyed when no longer needed to support program operations.

On an annual basis, the last box of an accession which includes the records for which exemption applications, Letters of Intent to Test, Study Plans, Requests for Modification of Test Standards and Schedules, Amendments to Study Plans, Progress Reports and Test Data (Final Report) have been received will be (a) recalled and (b) exemptions will be incorporated and (c) returned to FRC.
