The boards are coordinated by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and have never had a separate schedule. Due to their nature, FEBs are not part of OPM's Record Group (478). FEBs are listed under Record Group 414, "Records of Regional Committees, Commissions, and Boards."

Administration Records (FEB/ADM)

Administration records of a Federal Executive Board (FEB) document its organization and those activities and functions it performs as part of its mission. (NOTE: this schedule also includes records of Federal Executive Associations, or Councils.)

Records should be routinely retired to a records center. In most cases, this should occur when records are three years old. In some cases, an FEB may need to retire records to a center earlier. Such instances might include a larger volume of records than normal, a change in a sponsoring agency, a change in an FEB Executive Director or Chair, among other reasons.

Business Operations Records (FEB/BUS)

A Federal Executive Board (FEB) receives support from federal agencies in its metropolitan area, which may include contracts, purchases, travel arrangements, etc. The agency providing this support maintains the record copy of the business records. The FEB may receive copies of these documents and can dispose of them when no longer needed for business purposes.

If an FEB creates its own business records, they must be retained according to the following schedule. If an FEB maintains business records not listed in this schedule, refer to the General Records Schedule. (NOTE: this schedule also includes records of Federal Executive Associations, or Councils.)

NOTE: All business records series are listed in the General Records Schedule. While these series are an important part of the schedule, they do not need approval and are not listed in this submission.
