7. ITEM NO.	8. DESCRIPTION OF ITEM (With Inclusive Dates or Retention Periods)	9. SAMPLE OR JOB NO.	10. ACTION TAKEN
	GENERAL RECORDS
1.	Non-Record Material. Material which has no documentary or evidential value, such as library material made or acquired and preserved solely for reference or extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience or reference, or stocks of publications and processed documents. This material accumulates in offices as a convenience to personnel but should be kept to a minimum. Retention is not authorized. Much of this material should be read/scanned and destroyed without filing. If filed, it should be kept separate from official records, e.g., in bookcases or other open shelving, supply cabinets, etc.
2.	General Administrative Files. Unless otherwise specified in this schedule or the GRS, records accumulated by individual offices that relate to routine internal administration or house-keeping activities of the office rather than the functions for which the office exists. These records may include copies of correspondence and reports prepared in the office and forwarded to higher levels and other materials that do not serve as official documentation. Break file at end of fiscal year. Destroy one year later.
3.	Reading or Chronological Files. Extra copies of correspondence prepared and maintained by the originating office, used solely as a reading or reference file for the convenience and information of personnel. Maintain in monthly files. Destroy when six (6) months old.
4.	Suspense Files. Papers arranged in chronological order as a reminder that an action is required on a given date; a reply to action is expected and if not received should be traced on a given date; or a transitory paper held for reference that may be destroyed on a given date. a. Notes and other reminders to submit a report or reply or take some action. b. File copies, or an extra copy of an outgoing communication, filed by the date a reply is expected. c. Transitory papers held in suspense pending the completion of a forthcoming action, until a short period (usually thirty days) has elapsed. Destroy when required action is taken, reply is received, or when no longer needed.

5.	Technical Reference Material. Copies of reports, studies, special compilations of data, drawings, periodicals, clippings, and other material which are needed for reference and information purposes but are not made a part of official files. Prepared internally and externally. Review annually; destroy material of no further reference value.
6.	Transitory Material. Papers of short-term interest which have no documentary or evidential value and normally need not be kept more than six months. Record keepers can combine the types of temporary material shown below into one transitory file arranged chronologically and destroy after a short period. a. Letters of transmittal that do not add information to that contained in the transmitted material. Destroy upon receipt. b. Quasi-official notices, memoranda, and other papers that do not serve as a basis for official actions, such as notices of holidays or charity and welfare fund appeals, bond campaigns, and papers dealing with activities of employee associations or unions. Destroy when purpose has been served.
7.	Indices, Logs, Journals, and Registers. Unless otherwise specified in this schedule, reference sources, finding aids, and other documentation maintained for the convenience and use of the staff for listing and controlling files or Corporate actions. Destroy when superseded or obsolete.
8.	Management Planning and Workload Review Files. Analyses, notes, drafts, charts, interim and cumulative reports, and other workpapers generated which concern the manner or method of planning, directing, controlling, or doing work, or measuring workload. Break file at end of fiscal year. Destroy three years later.
9.	Subject Files. Used to retain a record of the daily operations and administration of an office and to provide reference to current subjects of a substantive and administrative nature. a. Record copies of office policy and precedent material.
