1. Attached herewith is Arthur J. RAMSEY's contact report of a meeting with KANTOR on 29 August 1961. The purpose of this contact was to determine KANTOR's current relationship with the RIS, ascertain his future plans, and debrief him about his friend William Steinsmith, an American who lives in Copenhagen illegally, and who has written several pro-Castro articles for local newspapers. He is also known to maintain a contact since February 1961 with the local Cuban legation officer Gabriel Califora.

2. We have asked A SOURCE TO LOCATE Steinsmith, determine the reason for his living here illegally (without residence permit) and obtain as much additional data as possible about his source of income, activities, and contacts here.

3. We will keep Headquarters advised of future developments. This case has been discussed with THE FBI representative from London, who suggested that Headquarters coordinate this case with THE FBI in Washington.

4. Forwarded under separate cover are copies of KANTOR's consular file including documents concerning his newly acquired wife.

The interest in STEINERTH was explained by our desire to find out why an American citizen resided in Norway illegally. After the informant KAWER was told that he should not reveal our interest in STEINERTH TO ANYONE, and he promised to do so.

b) According to KAWER, William STEINERTH, age 27-28, is a native of New York. His parents reside in Bronx, but their address is not known to KAWER. He believes that the name is fairly rare and that it should be easy to trace their residence through the Bronx telephone directory. As much as KAWER knows, STEINERTH studied in New York (possibly at the City College) and in California (possibly at the UCLA). His major was education. STEINERTH is a free-lance journalist and lives or lives from the money earnings of his journalistic work. TO KAWER'S limited best knowledge and belief, STEINERTH has no other source of income.

c) At the present time, STEINERTH lives with his girl-friend, Tulla STEINERTH, at Barnevej 2. He is definitely not registered there. STEINERTH came to Copenhagen some 6-7 months ago. Before that time he lived in Trondheim, Norway. He had a 1-year residence permit for Norway. As far as KAWER knows, STEINERTH's residence in Scandinavian countries is due to his desire to be with his girl-friend. The latter is of Norwegian descent, but lived a longer time in the US, where she landed (that is, she was possibly a coach, from whom she separated (but whom she did not formally divorce). She has a daughter, 10 years old, from that marriage, who is with her mother. KAWER does not know anything about STEINERTH, except that he is an American citizen. Tulla STEINERTH moved from Norway to Copenhagen, allegedly to study clothes design, but at the present time she has no money to attend any school or courses. In general, the couple lives from hand to mouth. At one time during the last winter, when they passed through a particular hard period, they stayed with KAWER.

d) KAWER met STEINERTH in winter 1960/61 and has been seeing him fairly frequently since winter 1961. KAWER did not provide a clear picture of how he met STEINERTH, but in the beginning it seems to have been a casual acquaintance through "a friend of a friend of a friend". In spring 1961 KAWER translated one of STEINERTH's articles on Cuba from English into Danish as a literary exercise. As a result of this work, they got to know each other more closely, but while they can be said to know each other well, KAWER does not consider STEINERTH a really close friend. In general, STEINERTH is a quiet and reserved person. KAWER characterized him as extremely well-read, interested in politics and economically, especially "left of the center". The articles of which KAWER knows dealt with Cuba, the African question, the USSR (STEINERTH expressed some anti-Soviet views), and, more recently, with Vietnam. The article on Cuba was published in the Danish journal "Udsigten" (other articles were published in "Aktuel" and "Information"). STEINERTH writes only in English. He does not know any foreign languages well and has written a number of Danish and Norwegian articles on various subjects.

KAWER does not know anything about STEINERTH's background. He knows only that prior to his coming to Norway, STEINERTH worked in New York as a sort of clerk or secretary for the American Consulate.

tion. KAWER believes that STEINSTEIN has not traveled extensively and is possibly visited only Mexico (when he studied in California) and Norway and Denmark.

KAWER knows STEINSTEIN only under this name and has never known directly or indirectly that STEINSTEIN could have used another name. He has seen an article written by STEINSTEIN, which was signed by "STEINSTEIN", but that seems to be only a spelling variation of the same name.

2) In connection with STEINSTEIN's article on Cuba, STEINSTEIN visited the Cuban Legation. In this matter he met and got acquainted with the Cuban Charge d'Affaires, Gabriel CALIFORNIA, a very "intelligent and brilliant young man"; he is a very good linguist and knows English, French, Chinese, possibly some Japanese. KAWER himself was introduced to CALIFORNIA and has met him at least 3-5 times. Initially, CALIFORNIA and KAWER even planned to exchange some language lessons, but after two lessons their efforts petered out. CALIFORNIA, according to KAWER, is a 100% "ideologist", strongly anti-American, but has some reservations concerning the Russians and Communism, at least in his utterances towards KAWER. The nature of contacts between CALIFORNIA and STEINSTEIN is not really known to KAWER. He does not believe that STEINSTEIN, who KAWER judges as a rather independent person, performs any particular services for CALIFORNIA and doubts very much that STEINSTEIN gets any money from CALIFORNIA. As stated before, STEINSTEIN's material situation is very poor. The only material guarantee he has is an assurance from his parents that they will pay his passage back to the United States.

KAWER stated that STEINSTEIN plans to return to the United States within 1-2 months. He will probably go to New York.

3) According to KAWER who is aware of the fact that STEINSTEIN resides in Denmark without a residence permit, the only known reason for STEINSTEIN's coming first to Norway and then to Denmark was his desire to be with his girl friend (Tulla ZEMANOVIC). At one point, STEINSTEIN told KAWER that since he was planning to go back to the United States pretty soon, it did not really matter whether he had or had not a residence permit. In short, vis-a-vis KAWER STEINSTEIN represented his illegal residence as a case of personal negligence and indifference and as purely connected with personal reasons.

4) Summarizing the somewhat impressionistic data on STEINSTEIN, KAWER stated that he considers for him to be "quite progressive", but not necessarily Communist. On the other hand, STEINSTEIN is not a type to have his soul easily and though KAWER has been knowing him for quite some time, he cannot make the effort to know him well. However, KAWER does not believe that STEINSTEIN is on any one's pay roll.

5. General Remarks

a) KAWER discussed STEINSTEIN fairly frankly and without any visible mental reservations, but he obviously did not provide a complete picture of the man and their relationship. In all fairness to KANTOR he is not a good reporter in general, is not a very keen observer, and is not always able to concentrate on the topic at hand. But from the tenor of the interview and KANTOR's total lack of any serious or relevant questions it seems probable to assume that the questioning concerning SMIRNOV did not bother him personally. He does not seem to have any gift of insight concerning his relationship with SMIRNOV and it is very unlikely that the latter has been cultivating KANTOR on behalf of the KGB, if it is assumed that SMIRNOV has his contacts.

b) KANTOR's financial status has not been clarified completely, but the gift of $10,000 from his father in connection with KANTOR's wedding and impending departure from Denmark does not seem to be unusual. In KANTOR's description of his father's business, the latter has a small enterprise and is certainly not a wealthy man, but he has some modest means and savings.

6. Final instructions:

a) KANTOR asked for instructions for the event of a contact by the Soviets and was told that if such contacts and attempts of contacts should occur in the United States, he would have to contact the FBI immediately.
