ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY,
NOVEMBER 22, 1963,
DALLAS, TEXAS

On March 2, 1977, Robert J. Potrykus, Chief, Intelligence Division, Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, Texas, hand-delivered a letter to Ted L. Gunderson, Special Agent in Charge, the Dallas FBI office. The letter is on Internal Revenue Service stationery, and states as follows:

"Dear Mr. Gunderson:

"Recently, Arlen Fuhlendorf, a Group Manager in the Dallas Intelligence Division, received information from a confidential informant that might be helpful in the investigation of the Kennedy assassination.

"The informant stated that on the morning of the assassination, Ruby contacted him and asked if he would 'like to watch the fireworks.' He was with Jack Ruby and standing at the corner of the Postal Annex Building facing the Texas School Book Depository Building at the time of the shooting. Immediately after the shooting, Ruby left and headed toward the area of the Dallas Morning News Building.

"If you desire, Group Manager Arlen Fuhlendorf can be available to discuss this matter with your agency. Group Manager Fuhlendorf can be contacted at 749-1801.

"Sincerely yours,

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

On the afternoon of March 2, 1977, Special Agent Udo H. Specht, Dallas FBI office, attempted to telephone Group Manager Fuhlendorf, but he had already gone home for the day.

On the morning of March 3, 1977, Special Agent Udo H. Specht, Dallas FBI office, telephonically contacted Group Supervisor Arlen Fuhlendorf, Internal Revenue Service, Intelligence Division, Dallas, Texas, concerning the information in the above letter. Fuhlendorf advised that it is a policy of the Internal Revenue Service that before the Internal Revenue Service can release the identity of an informant, that it has to obtain the consent of the informant. He will attempt to contact his informant and obtain this consent. He will contact Special Agent Specht as soon as he has contacted his informant. Once the consent is obtained, he will introduce Special Agent Specht to the informant, in order that the FBI can interview him. This informant has been out of town quite a bit, and it might take a few days to contact him.

During the afternoon of March 4, 1977, Mr. Fuhlendorf advised that his informant is Bob Vanderslice, and that he is in his office now. He is sending Vanderslice to the FBI office to be interviewed, and that Vanderslice will be at the Dallas FBI office at 2:30 PM, March 4, 1977.

At 2:25 PM, March 4, 1977, Bob Vanderslice, who furnished his address as 502 Monte Vista, Dallas, Texas, Telephone Number 327-7656, telephonically contacted Special Agent Udo H. Specht and stated that on the way to the FBI office, he bumped his lip, and that it is bleeding severely. He said he found out a few days ago that he has cancer of the lip, and also has a herpes sore in the area where his lip is bleeding. He stated that he will be at the FBI office at 8:00 AM on March 7, 1977, to furnish the information.

Bob Vanderslice did not personally appear at the Dallas FBI office on March 7, 1977, nor did he telephonically contact the office in an effort to make other interview arrangements.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

At 3:00 PM, March 7, 1977, Special Agent Specht telephonically contacted Mr. Vanderslice's residence. A woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Vanderslice, advised that her husband was not at home, and that she would give him the message to contact Mr. Specht.

On the afternoon of March 7, 1977, efforts were made to contact Group Manager Arlen Fuhlendorf, Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, Texas, but his secretary advised that he is at a meeting all week long. A message was left to have Mr. Fuhlendorf contact Special Agent Specht.

On March 14, 1977, Arlen L. Fuhlendorf, Group Manager, Internal Revenue Service, Intelligence, Dallas, Texas, telephonically contacted Special Agent Specht, FBI, Dallas, Texas, and advised that he was at a school all last week, and therefore, could not get in contact with Special Agent Specht. He was advised that Bob Vanderslice to date has not made himself available to be interviewed by the Dallas office of the FBI. Fuhlendorf advised that Vanderslice has been furnishing information to Internal Revenue Service in connection with a special enforcement program that Internal Revenue Service Intelligence has concerning the criminal element. Vanderslice has furnished information to Internal Revenue Service on local Dallas bookmakers. Fuhlendorf advised that as far as he knows, that the information that Vanderslice furnished has been reliable. Fuhlendorf advised that when he last talked to Vanderslice on March 4, 1977, that Vanderslice asked him that if he talked to the FBI, what use would be made of the information. Fuhlendorf told Vanderslice that he might get a free trip to Washington to testify before a Congressional Committee concerning his information. Fuhlendorf stated that Vanderslice might have had second thoughts after he told him that.

Fuhlendorf advised that several weeks ago, specific date unrecalled, he met Vanderslice at the restaurant located on the twenty-fifth floor of the Manor House, Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas. Fuhlendorf stated that Vanderslice talked to him about Candy Barr, a former stripper in one of Jack Ruby's nightclubs. This conversation led to Vanderslice discussing his knowledge of Ruby. Vanderslice told him that on the morning of the assassination, Jack Ruby called him on the telephone and asked him if he would like to go to the Presidential Parade with him, and if he would "like to watch the fireworks." Vanderslice said that he was with Jack Ruby and standing at the corner of the Postal Annex Building facing the Texas School Book Depository Building, at the time of the shooting. Immediately after the shooting, Ruby left and headed toward the area of the Dallas Morning News Building, without saying anything to him.

Vanderslice also told him that after Jack Ruby was arrested for killing Lee Harvey Oswald, that he was also arrested on an unrelated criminal charge, and incarcerated at the Dallas County Jail. Vanderslice got to know Ruby better in the County Jail, since he was a trustee at the jail, and as Ruby's mind began to deteriorate, he would perform services for him, like bring him his food and reading material, because Ruby became very suspicious and felt that someone was trying to poison his food and do him harm.

Fuhlendorf advised that when he initially got the information from Vanderslice, he put this information in a memorandum for the Internal Revenue Service National Office to be disseminated to Congressman Downing's Committee. The National Office returned the memorandum to Dallas, Texas, and told Internal Revenue Service to disseminate the information to the FBI in Dallas.

Mr. Fuhlendorf advised that he has not seen the memorandum since Robert J. Potrykus, Chief, Intelligence Division, Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, Texas, had it prior to delivering the letter to the FBI in Dallas. Fuhlendorf was requested to furnish a copy of the memorandum to the FBI, but he did not respond to that request, and stated that he did not know where the memorandum was. Fuhlendorf will attempt to call Vanderslice to determine why he has not made himself available for interview.
