On June 19, 1963, MM T-1, a Cuban exile who was formerly a member of the Cuban Rebel Army, and who is acquainted with certain anti-CASTRO personalities in the Miami area, advised as follows:

MANOLO AGUIIAR, 829 Southwest Ninth Avenue, Miami, is Head of the Frente Revolucionario Anticomunista (FRAC), and was planning to mount one or more raids against Cuba in two or three weeks. Source stated the AGUIIAR group has three boats, two of which are located in the Miami River, and one in a garage in Miami. It was also reported that they had a cache of explosives which they were planning to use on these raids. Source stated that this group had contacts in New York, where they were buying arms which they plan to bring to Miami. Among the equipment which they were seeking to buy were a number of .57 millimeter recoilless rifles. He stated that this group also had contacts with fishermen in Key West, Florida, on whom they could count for assistance in connection with their proposed raids.

"Diario Las Americas", a Spanish language newspaper published in Miami, Florida, in its issue of February 15, 1962, contained a directory of Cuban Revolutionary and Professional Organizations in Exile. On this list was the Frente Revolucionario Anticomunista, 453 Northwest Third Street, Miami.

The April 27, 1962 issue of the "Miami Herald" carried a front page article entitled, "Exiles Train Again Without U.S. Aid". The article reflected there were approximately twenty-two anti-CASTRO groups undergoing military instruction in the Miami area. Listed as participating in this training was MANUEL AGUIIAR, Head of the Anti-Communist Revolutionary Front.
