LAWRENCE MICHAEL WEISS

Lawrence Weiss is being sought by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) for his alleged conspiracy to violate the Federal Anti-Riot Law, and for Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution for Mob Action, both which offenses occurred in Chicago, Illinois, in October, 1969.

Weiss was a founder of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) chapter at the University of Detroit, Michigan, in 1968. He was a very active participant in SDS demonstrations, and after SDS split in June, 1969, subject became affiliated with the Weatherman faction of SDS. In a Weatherman demonstration in Chicago on 9/24/69 he was arrested during violent disorders, escaped from the police, and was subsequently rearrested on 9/26/69 and charged with Escape. He was released on bond and participated in the Weatherman "Days of Rage" in Chicago in October, 1969. During the "Days of Rage" he was identified engaged in mob action and a local felony warrant was issued charging him with Mob Action in 10/8/69. On 10/15/69 a local warrant in Cook County, Illinois, charged Weiss with failure to appear on the Escape charge as scheduled. On 10/16/69 a local felony warrant was issued charging Weiss with aggravated battery against a Chicago undercover police officer on 10/10/69 in Evanston, Illinois. In December, 1969, Weiss reportedly attended a Weatherman war council meeting in Flint, Michigan.

His known aliases are James Kenneth Remsik, Michael Guy Osborne, and Barrie Christopher Kosloff.

BERNARDINE RAE DOHRN

Bernardine Rae Dohrn is being sought by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) as a fugitive in connection with her unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for mob action, a felony in the state of Illinois, for involvement in a conspiracy to violate the Federal Anti-Riot laws and for involvement in a conspiracy to unlawfully possess or receive firearms.

Dohrn is the most prominent of the Weatherman fugitives. Her leadership of the Weatherman group has carried over from the pre-underground period to the present time. She has been the author of several Weatherman communiques from the underground.

Dohrn was born in Chicago, Illinois, and attended high school in Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin, where she graduated in June, 1959. Thereafter she attended Miami University of Ohio and then the University of Chicago. She holds three degrees, a BA, June, 1963; Masters, June, 1964; and J. D. degree, June, 1967, all from the University of Chicago. After leaving the University of Chicago in 1967, she was employed by the National Lawyer's Guild in New York City where she was student director.

In June, 1968, Dohrn was elected a national officer of SDS. In her capacity as National Interorganizational Secretary of SDS she traveled widely in this country and abroad. In the fall of 1968, she and other student leaders went to Budapest, Hungary, to meet with VietCong representatives. In July, 1969, Dohrn traveled to Cuba with other SDS leaders and again met representatives of the VietCong.

In June, 1969, Dohrn was elected to the National Interim Committee of SDS, Weatherman faction. It was at this time that SDS split into factions and Dohrn was a leader of the Weatherman faction. During Weatherman disorders in the fall of 1969, Dohrn was arrested and charged with mob action and assault on police officers.
